Welcome to the 27th issue of ReSolution® in which we draw on the experience and expertise of leading experts in the field to bring you commentary, articles and reviews on topical matters relating to domestic and international dispute resolution.

In this issue we feature, New Zealand's recent first equal ranking with Denmark by Transparency International as having the least corrupt public sector in the world, the approach to penalties in Singapore (Singapore CA declines to follow: the UK SC in Cavendish, Australian HC in Andrews, and New Zealand SC in Honey Bees), Witness-Gating by an arbitral tribunal in Singapore, and the future of third party funding in New Zealand.

We also look at the recent decision of the UK High Court in Dogelmor Trade v Caledor Consulting [2020] EWHC 3342 (Comm) which concerns a US $54M 'simple mistake' in an LCIA arbitration award which the arbitral tribunal refused to correct and which the Court remitted back to the tribunal for it to correct.

In Case in Brief, we examine Preston v Preston [2020] NZCA 679, a case in which the Kos P felt compelled to say this case is everything relationship property litigation should not be, and counsel during the High Court proceedings observed: ...the matter has eaten its head off. If ever there was a case for using the FDR Centre's prompt, private and cost effective family law arbitration or mediation services to resolve relationship property disputes in New Zealand, this is it!

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all our contributors. We are most grateful for the support we receive from dispute resolution professionals, law firms, and publishers, locally and overseas, that allows us to share with you papers and articles of a world class standard, and to bring you a broad perspective on the law and evolving trends in the delivery and practice of domestic and international dispute resolution.

Contributions of articles, papers, and commentary for future issues of ReSolution® are always welcome. I do hope you find this issue interesting and useful. Please feel free to distribute ReSolution® to your friends and colleagues – they are most welcome to contact us if they wish to receive our publications directly.
