

Customs and Excise Bill

Government Bill

Explanatory note

General policy statement

The Customs and Excise Act 1996 applies to the movement of all goods, people, and craft into and out of New Zealand, enabling the New Zealand Customs Service (Customs) to collect tax and enforce the law. The Act has been extensively amended since 1996 to account for changed circumstances such as raised standards for trade security, new free trade arrangements, and the use of new forms of information and technology for passenger facilitation and risk targeting. Consequently, businesses in particular report that the Act is too prescriptive, difficult to understand and apply, and in some areas is creating unnecessary compliance costs. In 2013 the Government initiated a review to address these issues, and this Bill will give effect to the results of that review.

This Bill will replace the Customs and Excise Act 1996. It will support the movement of legitimate travellers and goods across the border and provide the legal tools needed to protect New Zealand from people or goods that may cause harm. The Bill also supports the collection of Crown revenue. The objectives behind this legislation include the following:

- balancing the protection of the nation with individuals' rights:
- providing transparent and easy-to-use legislation:
- enabling business and Customs to quickly adopt future changes in technology and business practice:
- improving assurance over the collection of revenue:
- supporting economic growth by making it easier for traders to do business:
- facilitating greater information sharing with other agencies.

Modern revenue and import systems

The new legislation modernises Customs' revenue system to reflect changing trade patterns and volumes and make processes simpler and less cumbersome. Businesses' obligations will be clearer and they will have more flexibility in meeting them. Advance rulings and clarified valuation methodology will give importers and brokers greater certainty and a new regime for provisional values will enable importers to comply in those circumstances where they cannot know final values in advance. A direct appeal to Customs over duty assessments will give a low-cost, less formal avenue to resolve disputes, alongside the existing formal Customs Appeal Authority process. To improve clarity in the Act, the Bill will confirm when excisable goods are not subject to Customs control for refund or remission purposes.

Compliant businesses and individual New Zealanders will benefit from greater assurance that border risks and non-compliance will be identified and minimised. Those who engage with Customs' systems will be required to meet certain criteria, maintain high standards of care, and provide timely and improved information, for example—

- applicants for a licence for a Customs-controlled area will need to meet suitability criteria; and
- excise manufacturers will be required to submit nil returns; and
- the calculation of additional fuel volumes resulting from the addition of butane, slops, and additives at tank farms will be enabled.

The potential for locally grown tobacco to be illicitly supplied, avoiding the payment of excise duty, will be stemmed by reducing the personal allowance for growing and manufacturing tobacco from 15 kg to 5 kg per annum and including curing of tobacco in the definition of the term "manufacture".

The Bill updates the range of sanctions and responses available to Customs to deter non-compliance and ensure that compliant brokers, importers, and manufacturers are not disadvantaged. The scope of some existing sanctions will be extended. In particular, the Bill—

- extends administrative penalties for incorrect declarations to all export entries, with the objective of protecting New Zealand's trading reputation; and
- establishes an infringement notice scheme for minor offending, repealing the existing petty offences regime.

Modern, flexible powers to protect New Zealand

The Bill confirms the majority of Customs' existing powers while recognising privacy concerns and providing greater scope and flexibility to address smuggling and national security in the modern context through—

- restricting Customs' powers to examine and access electronic devices; and
- facilitating the authorisation of people to exercise Customs' powers and functions in the maritime environment. In the situation where Police or Defence Force personnel are acting as Customs officers, the Arms Act 1983 will recognise that such personnel may be carrying firearms. Customs officers will remain unarmed; and

- streamlining the process to impose import and export controls; and
- introducing a mechanism to enable controlled deliveries to be used to investigate smuggling across a range of goods; and
- enabling certain administrative functions to be performed by Customs officers off-shore, such as the pre-clearance of cruise ship passengers.

Use and management of information

Customs' obligations in respect of information will be set out in a more transparent framework. Information disclosure arrangements will enable regular and ongoing sharing with New Zealand Government agencies and, where appropriate, enable direct access to Customs' databases while protecting personal and commercially sensitive information. These arrangements must be developed in consultation with the Privacy Commissioner. Disclosure arrangements may also govern the regular and ongoing provision of information to non-Government organisations, avoiding repeated Official Information Act requests.

Customs will continue to receive the personal information required to properly manage risk at the border, including people's entry into New Zealand. Assurance will be improved as Customs will be able to request that people undergo biometric identity checks when there is doubt about their identity.

Modern, coherent legislation

The current Act has become increasingly inaccessible and complex due to repeated amendments, with some provisions being overly complex or using archaic language. The Bill significantly modernises both the language and structure of the legislation while preserving the current law, other than making the changes outlined above. The objective is to make obligations, rights, and powers more transparent, certain, and easier to use.

Some detail has been moved to regulations to enable changes to be made in response to emerging risks and new cost-effective risk management approaches and technologies.

The Bill includes powers to make rules that are deemed to be disallowable instruments; these are modernised versions of existing rule-making powers. They provide the regulatory flexibility needed over minor administrative and technical matters and are consistent with the principles identified in the Deemed Regulations Report of the Regulations Review Committee.

Commencement of legislation

The majority of the Bill, where provisions have been modernised but not substantively changed, will come into force on 1 April 2018 or, if later, 6 months after the date of Royal assent. Exceptions are: changes to extend the administrative penalty regime to exports and the new internal process for reviewing duty assessments, which will require more substantial changes in processes and behaviour. These exceptions will come into force 6 months later or at an earlier time specified by Order in Council.

Departmental disclosure statement

The New Zealand Customs Service is required to prepare a disclosure statement to assist with the scrutiny of this Bill. The disclosure statement provides access to information about the policy development of the Bill and identifies any significant or unusual legislative features of the Bill.

A copy of the statement can be found at <http://legislation.govt.nz/disclosure.aspx?type=bill&subtype=government&year=2016&no=209>.

Part by Part analysis

Most of the provisions of this Bill re-enact provisions currently contained in the Customs and Excise Act 1996 (the 1996 Act). Although these provisions of the Bill are often in a rewritten or restructured form, they do not make any substantive changes to the law. This Part by Part analysis does not generally go into any detail as to the contents of the provisions of the Bill that do not substantively change the law. The analysis concentrates on the main substantive changes to the law made by the Bill.

After the analysis of Part 6, there is a further analysis relating to the offence provisions contained in the Bill.

Clause 1 is the Title clause.

Clause 2 is the commencement clause. Subject to some limited exceptions, the Bill comes into force on 1 April 2018 or, if later, 6 months after Royal assent.

Part 1

Preliminary provisions

Clause 3 states the purposes of the Bill. This includes the purpose of repealing the 1996 Act.

Clause 4 provides a guide to the Bill. Clause 4(2) provides a guide to Part 1.

Clause 5 contains definitions that apply for the purposes of the whole Bill. It is primarily based on section 2 of the 1996 Act.

Paragraph (a)(i) of the definition of “manufacture”, relating to the manufacture of tobacco, has been expanded from the corresponding definition in section 2(1) of the 1996 Act to include curing.

Clause 6 defines when goods are subject to the control of Customs and is based on section 20(1) of the 1996 Act. The provision of section 20(2) of the 1996 Act is not included.

Clause 7 deals with how the Bill applies to postal articles and is based on section 276 of the 1996 Act.

Clause 8 deals with how the Bill applies to ships of foreign Governments. It is based on section 4(8) of the 1996 Act.

Clause 9 introduces Schedule 1, which contains transitional, savings, and related provisions. Clause 14 of Schedule 1 confers a time-limited power on the Governor-General to make further transitional and savings provisions by Order in Council.

Clause 10 provides that the Bill binds the Crown except as provided in Schedule 2. Schedule 2, which is based on section 4(1) to (7) of the 1996 Act, contains provisions relating to the New Zealand Defence Force.

Part 2

Excise duty and excise-equivalent duty

Clause 11 introduces Schedule 3. Schedule 3, which is based on provisions in Part 7 of the 1996 Act, levies excise duty and excise-equivalent duty. Clause 11(2) to (6) provides a guide to Schedule 3.

Clause 3(3) of Schedule 3 contains a new power to make regulations restricting the discretion of the chief executive of Customs to allow goods subject to excise duty to be removed from a Customs-controlled area without being removed for home consumption.

Clause 5(2) of Schedule 3 clarifies that excise duty levied on goods that are manufactured outside of a manufacturing area must be paid when the goods are manufactured.

Clause 10 of Schedule 3 contains new powers to make regulations in relation to motor spirits that are manufactured by the blending of 2 or more substances.

Clause 16 of Schedule 3 provides for the continuation, by Order in Council, of the Excise and Excise-equivalent Duties Table currently in force under the 1996 Act. Part 5 of Schedule 3 makes amendments to that table.

Part 3

Entry and exit of goods, persons, and craft

Clause 4(4) provides a guide to Part 3.

Subpart 1—Arrival and departure of goods, persons, and craft

Clauses 12 to 46 are primarily based on sections 21 to 32 and 33 to 37A of the 1996 Act and related offence provisions in Part 13 of that Act.

Clauses 30 and 33 are based, respectively, on sections 29 and 32 of the 1996 Act. The current requirements of those sections relating to the presentation of a passenger's baggage for inspection by a Customs officer have been extended to cover any other goods in the possession or under the control of the passenger.

Clauses 47 to 52 are based on Part 3A of the 1996 Act and the related offence provision in section 205A of that Act but with significant modifications. In particular, clause 49 gives power to the chief executive of Customs to require commercial transportation operators to provide Customs with information about international passengers from their passenger name records (defined in clause 5(1)).

Clause 53 is based on section 279 of the 1996 Act. The Enhancing Identity Verification and Border Processes Legislation Bill, which is currently before Parliament, provides for section 279 of the 1996 Act to be re-enacted as new section 32D and to include in paragraph (b) a reference to biometric information (see clause 15 of that Bill). In line with that change, clause 53(b) includes a reference to biometric information (defined in clause 5(1)).

Clause 54 is based on section 195 of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 2—Customs places and Customs-controlled areas

Subpart 2 of Part 3 is based on sections 9 to 19 and 68A to 68C of the 1996 Act and related offence provisions in Part 13 of that Act.

Clause 59(2) contains a new provision that the chief executive of Customs may grant a licence for a Customs-controlled area only if satisfied that the applicant is a fit and proper person to be granted the licence. Clause 60 contains a list of matters that the chief executive may consider in determining whether the applicant meets this requirement.

Clause 67(4)(a), which is based on section 68A of the 1996 Act, sets out an exemption from the licensing requirements of clause 56 for the manufacture of tobacco for personal use. Clause 67(5) sets an annual limit of 5 kilograms for this exemption. This is lower than the limit of 15 kilograms currently set by section 68A(2)(d) of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 3—Entry and accounting for goods

Subpart 3 of Part 3 is primarily based on provisions in Part 4 of the 1996 Act and related offence provisions in Part 13 of that Act.

Clause 81(1) is based on section 70(1) of the 1996 Act. Clause 81(1) provides that goods subject to excise duty need only be entered when they are removed for home consumption. Section 70(1) of the 1996 Act currently requires such goods to be entered whenever they are removed from a Customs-controlled area.

Clause 82 contains a new power to make regulations requiring licensees of Customs-controlled areas to provide returns to Customs in certain circumstances relating to goods that are subject to excise duty.

Subpart 4—Prohibited imports and prohibited exports

Subpart 4 of Part 3 is based on Part 5 of the 1996 Act.

Clause 95 prohibits the importation into New Zealand of objectionable publications (defined in clause 5(1)), other indecent or obscene articles, and goods that are for a dishonest purpose (defined in clause 5(2)). Clause 95 also prohibits the exportation from New Zealand of objectionable publications and goods that are for a dishonest purpose.

Clause 96 essentially retains the current powers of the Governor-General in sections 54 and 56 of the 1996 Act, to prohibit, by Order in Council, the importation or exportation of goods in the public interest. The powers have been clarified and extended so that they also cover the importation or exportation of documents (defined in clause 5(1)) that would not normally be regarded as goods (for example, certain electronic documents). The provisions of sections 55 and 57 of the 1996 Act are not included. Those provisions currently provide for an Order in Council prohibiting the importation or exportation of goods to expire after 3 years unless renewed by a further order.

Clause 97 essentially retains the current power of the Secretary of Foreign Affairs and Trade in section 56(2C) of the 1996 Act to prohibit the exportation of goods that may be put to certain uses (for example, military or terrorist uses), but separates the power from the Governor-General's power to prohibit the exportation of goods by Order in Council under section 56(2)(c) of the 1996 Act. That power of the Governor-General will now be exercisable by the Secretary by Gazette notice. Such a notice will be a disallowable instrument for the purposes of the Legislation Act 2012. The Secretary's power is also clarified and extended so that it covers documents that would not normally be regarded as goods.

Subpart 5—Import duties

Subpart 5 of Part 3 is based on Part 6 of the 1996 Act.

Clause 101, which is based on section 60(1) of the 1996 Act, requires entries for imported goods to include the Customs value of the goods determined in accordance with Schedule 4. Schedule 4 is based on Schedule 2 of the 1996 Act with some modifications.

Clause 102 contains a new provision that allows entries for imported goods to include a provisional Customs value in certain circumstances. Where a provisional Customs value is included in an entry, the final Customs value must be provided within a time prescribed by regulations (see clause 112, which is in subpart 7 of Part 3). Clause 144 (which is also in subpart 7 of Part 3) provides for duty to be refunded where the final Customs value is lower than the provisional Customs value.

Subpart 6—Excise duty and excise-equivalent duty credits

Subpart 6 of Part 3 is based on section 85 of the 1996 Act.

Clause 107(1)(a) broadens the scope of section 85(1) of the 1996 Act to remove the limitation that a licensee of a manufacturing area may claim duty credits only in respect of materials and goods that the licensee has purchased.

Subpart 7—Assessment, payment, and recovery of duty

Subpart 7 of Part 3 is primarily based on Part 8 of the 1996 Act.

Clauses 109 and 110 are new provisions that place general responsibilities on Customs in relation to the assessment and collection of duty. These provisions are based on sections 6 and 6A of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Clauses 114 and 115 are based, respectively, on sections 83 and 84 of the 1996 Act. Clause 116 contains a new provision that is similar in nature to those sections. It relates to cases where imported goods that are exempted from excise-equivalent duty on the basis that they are imported for further manufacture are not actually used for that purpose.

Clause 137, which is based on section 116 of the 1996 Act, allows goods to be imported into New Zealand temporarily without payment of duty in certain circumstances. Clause 138 contains a new provision that clarifies that clause 137 covers cases where goods are imported temporarily for manufacturing, processing, or repair.

Clause 149(2) contains a new provision that allows claims for drawback of duty to be made at a time prescribed by regulations, as well as at the time goods are entered for export from New Zealand.

Clause 153 contains a new provision that allows goods that have been exported from New Zealand for the purposes of repair or refurbishment to be imported back into New Zealand at a reduced amount of duty based on the cost of the repair or refurbishment, as opposed to the full Customs value of the goods.

Subpart 8—Forfeiture, seizure, and condemnation

Subpart 8 of Part 3 is based on Part 14 of the 1996 Act.

Clause 158(6) clarifies that the power under clause 158 to seize forfeited goods in the contiguous zone of New Zealand (see clause 158(5)) may be exercised only in accordance with article 33 of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. Article 33 sets out a coastal State's rights in respect of its contiguous zone.

Clause 164 introduces Schedule 5, under which seizures of goods as forfeited goods may be reviewed. Schedule 5 is based on sections 231 to 235 and 235B of the 1996 Act.

Part 4

Customs powers

Clause 4(5) provides a guide to Part 4.

Part 4 is primarily based on Part 12 of the 1996 Act, sections 32A to 32C of that Act, and related offence provisions in Part 13 of that Act.

Clause 169 allows certain powers under Part 4 to be exercised in New Zealand's contiguous zone but only in accordance with article 33 of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (see clause 169(3)) and the note above on clause 158(6).

Clause 176 is based on section 23(4) and (5) of the 1996 Act. Clause 176(4) expressly limits the scope of the current power of Customs to order ships to leave New Zealand to cases where the chief executive of Customs is satisfied that the order is in the public interest.

Clause 180 is based on section 147 of the 1996 Act. A Customs officer's power to demand evidence of a person's identity has been extended to include the power to require the person to state his or her date of birth (see clause 180(2)(a)(iii)).

Clauses 182 and 183 are based on new sections 32E and 32F of the 1996 Act that are contained in clause 15 of the Enhancing Identity Verification and Border Processes Legislation Bill, which is currently before Parliament.

Clause 184 is based on section 145 of the 1996 Act. A Customs officer's power to question a person about goods and debt has been extended to cover a person who is within a duty-free store (see clause 184(1)(f)).

Clause 195 is based on section 32A of the 1996 Act. Clause 195(1)(b) extends the current power of a Customs officer to prohibit the use of electronic communication devices to cover places being used by persons arriving in, or departing from, New Zealand that are not Customs-controlled areas or Customs places.

Clause 197 is based on section 145A of the 1996 Act. A Customs officer's power to question a person about his or her arrival or departure has been extended to include the power to question the person about his or her date of birth (see clause 197(2)(c)).

Clause 206 is based on section 151(1) to (6) of the 1996 Act, under which a Customs officer has the power to examine goods that are subject to the control of Customs. Clause 206(5) is a new provision that provides that this power of examination does not authorise an officer to access data on an electronic device. Accessing data on electronic devices is now dealt with in a separate provision (see note on clause 207 below).

Clause 207 sets new parameters for the accessing and searching by Customs officers of data on electronic devices that are subject to the control of Customs. Clause 207 also enables a Customs officer to require the production of access information for an electronic device (for example, a password). The circumstances in which data may be accessed vary and depend in some cases on whether a Customs officer has a reasonable suspicion or reasonable belief of relevant offending (defined in clause 207(5)).

Clauses 244 to 246 contain new provisions relating to controlled deliveries that are based on sections 12 and 12D of the Misuse of Drugs Amendment Act 1978. The provisions apply in relation to the investigation of certain offences involving objectionable publications (defined in clause 5(1)), goods that have been designed, manufactured, or adapted to facilitate a crime involving dishonesty, or tobacco.

Part 5

Administrative provisions

Clause 4(6) provides a guide to Part 5.

Subpart 1—Organisation of Customs

Clauses 247 to 249 are based on section 5 of the 1996 Act and paragraph (a) of the definition of "Customs officer" in section 2(1) of that Act.

Clause 250 is based on section 6 of the 1996 Act and allows the chief executive of Customs to authorise particular individuals who are not Customs officers to act as Customs officers.

Clause 251 is a new provision that allows the chief executive of Customs, in certain circumstances, to authorise classes of individuals to act as Customs officers. An authorisation under clause 251, unlike an authorisation under clause 250, does not have to identify the particular individuals who are covered by the authorisation.

Clauses 252, 253, and 254 are based on sections 7, 8, and 278 of the 1996 Act respectively.

Subpart 2—Exports

Clauses 255 to 259 are based on sections 19B to 19D and 19H of the 1996 Act and a related offence provision in section 200 of that Act.

Clauses 260 to 262 and Schedule 6, which is introduced by clause 260, are based on sections 53A to 53J of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 3—Administrative penalties

Subpart 3 of Part 5 is based on Part 10 of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 3 of Part 5 extends the current regime for administrative penalties in Part 10 of the 1996 Act to cover entries for goods subject to excise duty and export entries in a more comprehensive way. See, in particular, paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition of “materially incorrect” in clause 263.

The maximum amounts for administrative penalties are specified in clause 266(1)(a)(i) to (iii) and (b)(i) to (iii) on a scaled basis by reference to degree of culpability: $20,000, $35,000, and $50,000. Currently, in section 128B(2)(b) and (3)(b) of the 1996 Act, there is only 1 maximum amount, $50,000, that applies regardless of the degree of culpability.

Subpart 4—Automated electronic systems

Subpart 4 of Part 5 is based on sections 274A to 274D of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 5—General provisions about information (including joint border management)

Clause 280 is a new provision that sets out expressly the purposes for which Customs may use information that is provided to it or that it otherwise obtains or generates. This includes information that is obtained through any joint border management system that Customs operates with the Ministry for Primary Industries (see clause 281).

Clause 281 is based on sections 131A, 282D, 282J, and 282K of the 1996 Act.

Clause 282 provides that nothing in the Bill prevents Customs from using or disclosing information under other enactments.

Subpart 6—Disclosure of information

Subpart 6 of Part 5 provides for the disclosure of Customs information to other agencies.

Sections 280 to 280E, 280G to 280L, 281, and 282 of the 1996 Act are substantially re-enacted so that information held by Customs may continue to be disclosed to—

- the Inland Revenue Department, under an information matching agreement or direct access agreement, for the purposes of the Student Loan Scheme Act 2011 and the Child Support Act 1991;
- the Ministry of Social Development (MSD), under an information matching agreement, for the purpose of verifying benefit entitlement or eligibility, recovery of benefit debt, and giving mutual assistance;
- the Ministry of Justice, under an information matching agreement, for the purposes of fines enforcement.

There are also 4 new disclosure provisions.

Clause 292 enables Customs to enter into an agreement with MSD to facilitate MSD having direct access to Customs information for the purpose of verifying benefit entitlement or eligibility and benefit debt recovery.

Clause 293 enables Customs to enter into an agreement with a government agency to facilitate that agency having direct access to Customs information for the purpose of assisting the agency to perform its functions related to, or involving, any of the following:

- the prevention, detection, investigation, prosecution, or punishment of offences;
- the prevention, detection, or investigation of any potential, suspected, or actual terrorist act or facilitation of a terrorist act;
- the protection of national security;
- the processing of international passengers;
- the protection of border security;
- the protection of public revenue;
- the protection of public health and safety.

Clause 294 enables Customs to enter into an agreement with a government agency to facilitate the disclosure of information to that agency if the disclosure is to be on a regular basis and is not provided under an information matching agreement or a direct access agreement. Biometric information, passenger name record information, and intelligence assessments and reports generated by Customs can only be disclosed under this provision for the purpose of assisting the government agency to perform its functions related to, or involving, all or any of the matters listed above in respect of clause 293. Any other information held by Customs can be disclosed for the purpose of assisting the government agency to perform its functions.

Neither clause 293 nor 294 prevents or limits the disclosure of Customs information authorised or required by or under any enactment, or permitted by the Privacy Act 1993.

Clause 296 enables Customs to enter into an agreement with a private sector organisation to disclose to that organisation on a regular basis, without request, any information that may be disclosed under the Official Information Act 1982.

Subpart 7—Registered user systems

Subpart 7 of Part 5 is based on Part 11 of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 7 of Part 5 extends the current provisions of Part 11 of the 1996 Act to cover any electronic system established by Customs to enable documents to be provided to or by Customs by or to persons registered to use the system. Part 11 of the 1996 Act currently covers only joint border management systems established by Customs with the Ministry for Primary Industries.

Clauses 300 and 305 contain new powers to make regulations relating to, respectively, the registration of users and the regulation of access to registered user systems.

Subpart 8—Customs rulings

Subpart 8 of Part 5 is based on Part 9 of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 8 of Part 5 incorporates the amendments to the 1996 Act included in Part 2 of the Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement Amendment Act 2016.

Clause 323 contains new provisions relating to the publication of Customs rulings.

Subpart 9—Administrative reviews

Clause 324 introduces Schedule 7.

Clauses 113(3)(a), 114(6)(a), 115(5)(a), 116(6)(a), 117(3)(a), 139(7)(a), and 140(6)(a), which are all in subpart 7 of Part 3, provide new rights for persons dissatisfied with a decision of the chief executive of Customs in relation to an assessment of duty to apply for an administrative review of the decision. Schedule 7 sets out the process for the administrative review.

Schedule 7 also covers administrative reviews in relation to penalty notices issued under subpart 3 of Part 5. See clauses 270(2)(a) and 271(2)(a). Clause 270(2)(a) is based on section 128A(3)(b) of the 1996 Act.

Subpart 10—Customs Appeal Authorities

Subpart 10 of Part 5 and Schedule 8, which is introduced by clause 327(4), are based on Part 16 of the 1996 Act.

Part 6

Final and miscellaneous provisions

Clause 4(7) provides a guide to Part 6.

Subpart 1—Records

Subpart 1 of Part 6 is based on sections 95 and 95A of the 1996 Act and the related offence provisions in sections 205 and 205A of that Act.

Clause 332 and paragraph (b) of the definition of “specified place” in clause 331(4) contain new provisions for allowing records that are required to be kept under clause 331 to be kept at places outside New Zealand. The new provisions are based on section 22(2BA)(b), (8), and (9) of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Subpart 2—Offences

Clauses 336 to 375 contain offences, and supplementary provisions about offences, from Part 13 of the 1996 Act that have not been included elsewhere in the Bill. The current power of the chief executive of Customs under section 223 of the 1996 Act to deal with petty offences is not included.

Clauses 376 to 379 contain new provisions that allow regulations to establish a regime for infringement offences and fees. Regulations may prescribe offences under the Bill that are infringement offences and infringement fees not exceeding $1,000 for those offences (see clause 376). The regime will be administered through the issue of infringement notices under clauses 377 and 378. Section 21 of the Summary Proceedings Act 1957 will apply to the regime.

Subpart 3—Regulations, orders, rules, etc

Clause 380(1) sets out the general scope of the Governor-General’s powers to make regulations by Order in Council under the Bill.

Clause 380(1)(a) provides that regulations may be made where a provision of the Bill provides for any matter to be prescribed by regulations. For example, clause 12(1) requires an advance notice of arrival to be provided to Customs “within the prescribed time”, which, when read with the definition of “prescribed” in clause 5(1), means the time prescribed by regulations.

Clause 380(1)(b)(i) provides that regulations may be made where a provision of the Bill otherwise contemplates a matter being provided for by regulations. For example, clause 300(2) and (3) contemplates regulations doing certain things. See the definition of “regulations” in clause 5(1).

Clause 380(1)(b)(ii) and (iii) is based on section 286(1)(ii) of the 1996 Act.

Clause 380(2) to (7) contains supplementary provisions about regulations.

Clauses 381 to 387 contain powers to make regulations based on various provisions of the 1996 Act.

Clause 385(1)(a)(ii) expands the current power in section 287 of the 1996 Act to impose charges to include charges in relation to the making of Customs rulings under clause 313(1)(c).

Clause 388 contains a new power for regulations to prescribe circumstances in which activities of a Customs officer carried out outside New Zealand are to be treated as having been carried out in New Zealand.

Clause 389 is based on sections 287A and 287E of the 1996 Act.

Clauses 390 to 397 are based on sections 288B to 288I of the 1996 Act.

Clause 398(1) sets out the general scope of the power of the chief executive of Customs to make rules under the Bill. Generally, the chief executive's rules are to be used to prescribe the way in which notices, applications, and other documents are to be provided to Customs. This includes forms that are to be used, information that is to be provided, and declarations that are to be provided (see clause 398(2)). The following provisions of the Bill provide for matters to be prescribed by the chief executive's rules:

- clauses 12(2)(a), 14(5)(a), 24(2)(a), 37(5) and (6), 45(5)(a), 57(2), 75(1)(a) and (2), 81(2)(a) and (3), 82(3)(a), 87(3)(b), 89(1)(a), 112(2)(b), 300(3)(b), 302(1), 312(1)(a), 382(e), 406(1)(a) and (2)(c), and 413(5)(b):
- clauses 1(a) and 6(2)(a) of Schedule 6:
- clause 1(1) of Schedule 7.

The procedural requirements in clause 398(3) to (6) are based on section 288(3), (4), and (6) to (11) of the 1996 Act.

Clause 399 clarifies that, except as otherwise expressly provided, instruments made by Customs under the Bill are not disallowable instruments for the purposes of the Legislation Act 2012. Rules made by the chief executive under clause 398 are disallowable instruments (see clause 398(3)(d)), as are Gazette notices given by the chief executive under Part 3 of Schedule 3 (see clauses 25(2) and 26(4) and (5) of that schedule).

Subpart 4—Miscellaneous provisions

Subpart 4 of Part 6 contains miscellaneous provisions based on various provisions of the 1996 Act.

Clauses 400(1)(f), (2)(g), and (4), 401(1)(f) and (2), 402(1)(e) and (2), and 404(2)(c) are new provisions that permit Customs to give notices by email or other electronic means. The new provisions include provisions based on section 14G(a) and (b) of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Clause 414 is based on section 64 of the 1996 Act, but with a new provision relating to fish caught by New Zealand ships (see clause 414(6) and (7)).

Clause 416 is a new provision that relates to clause 207 (see note on clause 207 above).

Clause 417 gives the chief executive of Customs the power to determine the working hours of Customs. Customs' working hours are currently determined under regulations made under section 286(1)(ee) of the 1996 Act.

Clause 418 is a new provision that applies to human remains certain provisions of the Bill relating to imported goods or goods being exported. Human remains are not normally regarded as being goods.

Subpart 5—Repeals, revocations, and amendments of Acts and instruments

Clause 419 repeals the 1996 Act.

Clause 420 introduces Schedule 9, which contains other consequential repeals, revocations, and amendments.

Part 1 of Schedule 9 repeals Part 5 of the Mercantile Law Act 1908. Part 5 relates to unpaid vendors of warehoused goods and is now considered to be redundant.

Part 3 of Schedule 9 includes an amendment to section 3 of the Arms Act 1983 to acknowledge that members of the New Zealand Defence Force or members of the Police may carry firearms while acting as authorised persons under clause 250 or 251.

12 Default rule if value of goods cannot be determined under clause 11

13 Fair market value

- (1) For the purposes of this clause,—
- (a) identical goods means goods that are the same in all respects, including physical characteristics, quality, and reputation, as the goods being valued, except for minor differences (if any) in appearance that do not affect the value of the goods: 20
  - (b) similar goods means goods that closely resemble the goods being valued in respect of component materials and parts and characteristics and that are functionally and commercially interchangeable with the goods being valued, having regard to the quality and reputation of the goods being valued: 25
  - (c) a sale in the open market means—
    - (i) that the price is the sole consideration; and
    - (ii) that the price is not influenced by any commercial, financial, or other ties, whether by contract or otherwise, between the seller, or any person associated in business with the seller, and the buyer, or any person associated in business with the buyer (other than the relationship created by the sale of the goods in question); and 30
    - (iii) that no part of the proceeds of any subsequent resale, use, or disposal of the goods will accrue, either directly or indirectly, to the seller, or to any person associated in business with the seller: 35

- (d) 2 persons are treated as being associated in business with each other if, whether directly or indirectly, either of them has any interest in the business or property of the other, or both have a common interest in any business or property, or some third person has an interest in the business or property of both of them: 5
- (e) in determining a fair market value in accordance with this clause, the chief executive must—
- (i) use only those prices that represent a sale between buyers and sellers independent of each other; and
  - (ii) exclude from the price any excise duty and goods and services tax. 10
- (2) The fair market value of any goods must be determined by applying sequentially subclauses (3) to (8) to the first subclause under which fair market value can be determined.
- (3) The fair market value of any goods on the date on which excise duty is levied on them is the lowest price for which identical goods in the same or substantially the same quantities are generally sold at that date in the open market in New Zealand on sales freely offered and made on ordinary trade terms by a licensee of a manufacturing area, other than a contractor. 15
- (4) If, in the chief executive’s opinion, the fair market value cannot be determined under subclause (3), it is the lowest price for which identical goods in quantities different from those being sold are generally sold at that date in the open market in New Zealand on sales freely offered and made on ordinary trade terms by a licensee of a manufacturing area, other than a contractor. 20
- (5) If, in the chief executive’s opinion, the fair market value cannot be determined under subclause (4), it is the lowest price for which similar goods in the same or substantially the same quantities are generally sold at that date in the open market in New Zealand on sales freely offered and made on ordinary trade terms by a licensee of a manufacturing area, other than a contractor. 25
- (6) If, in the chief executive’s opinion, the fair market value cannot be determined under subclause (5), it is the lowest price for which similar goods in quantities different from those being sold are generally sold at that date in the open market in New Zealand on sales freely offered and made on ordinary trade terms by a licensee of a manufacturing area, other than a contractor. 30
- (7) If, in the chief executive’s opinion, the fair market value cannot be determined under subclause (6), the chief executive must determine the price that the goods would generally fetch at the retail level and deduct from that price an amount that reasonably represents the profit margin and other costs beyond the manufacturing level on those goods. 35
- (8) If, in the chief executive’s opinion, the fair market value cannot be determined under subclause (7), the chief executive must determine the value of the goods by taking the costs of the production of the goods and adding an amount 40 that reasonably represents the profit margin and other costs to the manufacturing level of those goods.

Part 1

Method 1: transaction value 10

Use of transaction value

4 Basis of determining Customs value

- (1) The primary basis for determining the Customs value of imported goods is the transaction value of the goods.
- (2) Subclause (3) applies if— 15
  - (a) the chief executive is of the opinion that the transaction value cannot be used to determine the Customs value of the goods because the requirements of clause 5 are not met; or
  - (b) the chief executive is of the opinion that an adjustment that is required to be made under clause 7(b) or (c) cannot be made because of a lack of sufficient information; or 20
  - (c) the chief executive has reason to doubt the truth or accuracy of the Customs value of the goods as included in their entry.
- (3) The chief executive may determine the Customs value of the goods by proceeding sequentially through methods 2 to 6 to the first method under which the Customs value can, in the opinion of the chief executive, be determined. 25
- (4) The chief executive may proceed under subclause (3) in reliance on subclause (2)(c) only if the chief executive has first sought further explanation or other evidence that the Customs value included in the entry represents the total amount actually paid or payable for the imported goods. 30
- (5) If the chief executive proceeds under subclause (3), the chief executive must reverse the order of consideration of methods 4 and 5 if requested by the importer.

Compare: 1996 No 27 Schedule 2 cls 2(5), (6), 3(4)

5 When transaction value of goods can be used 35

The transaction value can only be used to determine the Customs value of imported goods if—

- (a) there are no restrictions respecting the disposition or use of the goods by the buyer, other than restrictions that—
- (i) are imposed by law; or
  - (ii) limit the geographical area in which the goods may be resold; or
  - (iii) do not substantially affect the value of the goods; and 5
- (b) the sale of the goods, or the price paid or payable for the goods, is not subject to some condition or consideration in respect of which a value cannot be determined; and
- (c) where any part of the proceeds of any subsequent resale, disposal, or use of the goods by the buyer is to accrue, directly or indirectly, to the seller, the price paid or payable for the goods includes the value of that part of the proceeds or can be adjusted in accordance with clause 7; and 10
- (d) the importer complies with clause 6 if required by the chief executive in a case where the buyer and seller are related at the time the goods are sold for export to New Zealand. 15

Compare: 1996 No 27 Schedule 2 cl 2(1)

6 Sales between related persons

- (1) This clause applies to an importer if the chief executive requires the importer to comply with this clause under clause 5(d).
- (2) The importer must produce to the chief executive either the evidence referred to in subclause (3) or the evidence referred to in subclause (4). 20
- (3) The evidence to be produced under this subclause is evidence that demonstrates that the relationship between the buyer and the seller did not influence the price paid or payable for the goods, including (without limitation) evidence of— 25
- (a) how the buyer and seller organise their commercial relations; and
  - (b) how the price paid or payable for the goods was determined.
- (4) The evidence to be produced under this subclause is evidence that demonstrates that the transaction value of the goods being valued, taking into consideration any relevant factors and differences (including any prescribed factors and differences), closely approximates the Customs value of other goods exported at the same time, or at substantially the same time, as the goods being valued, being— 30
- (a) the transaction value of identical goods or similar goods that are sold for export to New Zealand where the seller and buyer are not related at the time the goods are sold; or 35
  - (b) the deductive value of identical goods or similar goods determined in accordance with Part 4 of this schedule; or

- (c) the computed value of identical goods or similar goods determined in accordance with Part 5 of this schedule.
  - (5) The evidence referred to in subclause (4) may include (without limitation) the following information as relevant:
    - (a) the nature of the goods being valued: 5
    - (b) the nature of the industry that produces the goods being valued:
    - (c) the season in which the goods being valued are imported:
    - (d) whether a difference in values is commercially significant:
    - (e) the trade levels at which the sales take place:
    - (f) the quantity of the sales: 10
    - (g) any of the amounts referred to in clause 7 or 8:
    - (h) the costs, charges, or expenses that—
      - (i) are incurred by a seller when the seller sells to a buyer to whom the seller is not related; but
      - (ii) are not incurred when the seller sells to a buyer to whom the seller is related. 15
  - (6) Subclause (7) applies if the chief executive is of the opinion that any evidence produced by the importer under subclause (3) or (4) does not demonstrate the matter that it is required to demonstrate under that subclause.
  - (7) The chief executive must— 20
    - (a) inform the importer, in writing if so requested, of the grounds on which the chief executive formed the opinion; and
    - (b) give the importer a reasonable opportunity to satisfy the chief executive that the evidence does demonstrate the matter in question.
- Compare: 1996 No 27 Schedule 2 cl 2(2)–(4) 25

Calculation

7 Calculation of transaction value

The transaction value of imported goods is to be calculated by—

- (a) taking the price paid or payable for the goods when sold for export to New Zealand; and 30
- (b) on the basis of sufficient information, adding amounts (to the extent that each amount is not included in the price paid or payable for the goods when sold for export to New Zealand) equal to the following:
  - (i) commissions and brokerage in respect of the goods incurred by the buyer, other than fees paid or payable by the buyer to the buyer’s agent for the service of representing the buyer overseas in respect of the purchase of the goods: 35

- (ii) the packing costs and charges incurred by the buyer in respect of the goods, including the cost of cartons, cases, and other containers and coverings that are treated for customs purposes as being part of the imported goods and all expenses of packing incidental to placing the goods in the condition in which they are shipped to New Zealand: 5
- (iii) the value of the following goods and services, determined in accordance with clause 8, where they have been supplied (directly or indirectly) by the buyer free of charge or at a reduced cost for use in connection with the production and sale for export of the imported goods: 10
- (A) materials, component parts, and other goods incorporated in the imported goods:
- (B) tools, dies, moulds, and other goods utilised in the production of the imported goods: 15
- (C) materials consumed in the production of the imported goods:
- (D) engineering, development work, artwork, design work, plans, and sketches undertaken elsewhere than in New Zealand and necessary for the production of the imported goods: 20
- (iv) royalties and licence fees, including payments for patents, trademarks, and copyrights in respect of the imported goods that the buyer must pay, directly or indirectly, as a condition of the sale of the goods for export to New Zealand, exclusive of charges for the right to reproduce the imported goods in New Zealand: 25
- (v) the value of any part of the proceeds of any subsequent resale, disposal, or use of the goods by the buyer that accrues or is to accrue, directly or indirectly, to the seller:
- (vi) the value of any materials, component parts, and other goods incorporated in the imported goods for the purpose of repair to, or refurbishment of, those goods prior to export of the goods to New Zealand, and the price paid for the service of repair or refurbishment, as the case may be: 30
- (vii) the costs of transportation and insurance of, and the loading, unloading, and handling charges, and other charges and expenses associated with the transportation of, the imported goods until the goods have left the country of export if those costs, charges, and expenses are paid or payable by the buyer, directly or indirectly, to or for the benefit of the seller as a condition of the transaction; and 35
- 40

- (c) on the basis of sufficient information, deducting amounts (to the extent that each amount is included in the price paid or payable for the goods when sold for export to New Zealand) equal to the following:
  - (i) the costs of transportation and insurance of, and the loading, unloading, and handling charges, and other charges and expenses associated with the transportation of, the imported goods from the time the goods have left the country of export, other than any cost, charge, or expense referred to in subparagraph (ii)(B): 5
  - (ii) any of the following costs, charges, or expenses if the cost, charge, or expense is identified separately from the balance of the price paid or payable for the goods when sold for export to New Zealand: 10
    - (A) any reasonable cost, charge, or expense that is incurred for the construction, erection, assembly, or maintenance of, or technical assistance provided in respect of, the goods after the goods are imported: 15
    - (B) any reasonable cost, charge, or expense that is incurred in respect of or in association with the transportation or insurance of the goods within New Zealand:
    - (C) any Customs duties or other taxes payable in New Zealand in relation to the importation or sale of the goods; and 20
- (d) in respect of carrier media bearing data or instructions, deducting the value of the data or instructions if—
  - (i) the value of the data or instructions is distinguished from the cost or value of the carrier media; and 25
  - (ii) the data or instructions are not incorporated in data processing equipment.

Compare: 1996 No 27 Schedule 2 cl 3(1)

- 8 Calculation of transaction value: value of goods and service supplied by buyer 30
- (1) The value of the goods and services described in clause 7(b)(iii) must be—
    - (a) determined in accordance with this clause; and
    - (b) apportioned to the imported goods—
      - (i) in a reasonable manner; and
      - (ii) in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. 35
  - (2) The value of materials, components, parts and other goods incorporated in the goods being valued or any materials consumed in the production of the goods being valued must be determined by adding—
    - (a) their cost of acquisition or production, being—

- (i) their cost of acquisition where they were acquired by the buyer from a person who was not related to the buyer at the time of their acquisition; or
- (ii) their cost of acquisition incurred by the person related to the buyer, where they were acquired by the buyer from a person who was related to the buyer at the time of their acquisition but who did not produce them; or 5
- (iii) their cost of production where they were produced by the buyer or a person related to the buyer at the time of their production; and

- (c) the value added to them by any repairs or modifications made to them after they were so acquired or produced.
- (3) The value of tools, dies, moulds, and other goods utilised in the production of the goods being valued must be determined— 15
- (a) by adding—
- (i) their cost of acquisition or production, being—
- (A) their cost of acquisition where they were acquired by the buyer from a person who was not related to the buyer at the time they were so acquired; or 20
- (B) their cost of acquisition incurred by the person related to the buyer, where they were acquired by the buyer from a person who was related to the buyer at the time they were so acquired but who did not produce them; or
- (C) their cost of production where they were produced by the buyer or a person related to the buyer at the time of their production; and 25
- (ii) the cost of their transportation to the place of production of the goods being valued; and

- (b) by deducting an amount to account for any previous use of the goods made after the goods were so acquired or produced.
- (4) The value of engineering, development work, artwork, design work, plans and sketches, which were undertaken other than in New Zealand and were necessary for the production of the goods being valued, must be determined by ascertaining— 35

Method 2: transaction value of identical goods

- 9 Transaction value of identical goods 15
- (1) If, in the opinion of the chief executive, the Customs value of the goods being valued cannot be determined under Part 1 of this schedule, the Customs value may be determined by—
- (a) taking the transaction value of identical goods that were—
    - (i) exported at the same or substantially the same time as the goods being valued; and 20
    - (ii) sold for export to New Zealand—
      - (A) to a buyer at the same or substantially the same trade level as the buyer of the goods being valued; and
      - (B) in the same or substantially the same quantities as the goods being valued; and 25
  - (b) on the basis of sufficient information, adding or deducting amounts to account for commercially significant differences between the following that are attributable to differences in distances and modes of transport:
    - (i) the costs, charges, and expenses referred to in clause 7(b)(vii) in respect of the identical goods; and 30
    - (ii) those costs, charges, and expenses in respect of the goods being valued.
- (2) If there are 2 or more transaction values of identical goods that meet all the requirements set out in subclause (1)(a), the Customs value of the goods being valued must be determined on the basis of the lowest such transaction value (as adjusted under subclause (1)(b)). 35

Compare: 1996 No 27 Schedule 2 cl 4(1), (3)(a), (4)

- 10 Transaction value of identical goods not sold at same trade level or quantity
- (1) If the Customs value of imported goods cannot be determined under clause 9 because identical goods were not sold under the conditions described in clause 9(1)(a)(ii), the Customs value may be determined by— 5
- (a) taking the transaction value of identical goods that were—
- (i) exported at the same or substantially the same time as the goods being valued; and
- (ii) sold for export to New Zealand—
- (A) to a buyer at the same or substantially the same trade level as the buyer of the goods being valued but in quantities different from the quantities in which those goods were sold; or 10
- (B) to a buyer at a trade level different from that of the buyer of the goods being valued but in the same or substantially the same quantities as the quantities in which those goods were sold; or 15
- (C) to a buyer at a trade level different from that of the buyer of the goods being valued and in quantities different from the quantities in which those goods were sold; and 20

Part 5

Method 5: computed value

19 Computed value as Customs value

If, in the opinion of the chief executive, the Customs value cannot be determined under Parts 1 to 4 of this schedule, the Customs value of the goods is to be the computed value of the goods. 5

Compare: 1996 No 27 Schedule 2 cl 7(1)

20 Computed value

- (1) The computed value of goods being valued is the aggregate of amounts—
- (a) equal to the costs, charges, and expenses incurred in respect of, or the value of, the production or other processing, and the materials employed in producing the goods; and 10
  - (b) determined on the basis of the commercial accounts of the producer of the goods, or other sufficient information, that are supplied by or on behalf of the producer and prepared in a manner consistent with the generally accepted accounting principles of the country of production of the goods. 15
- (2) The costs, charges, and expenses referred to in subclause (1) include the following:
- (a) the costs, charges, and expenses referred to in clause 7(b)(ii): 20
  - (b) the value of any of the goods and services referred to in clause 7(b)(iii) and (vi), determined and apportioned to the goods being valued as referred to in clause 8 as relevant, whether or not such goods and services have been supplied free of charge or at a reduced cost:
  - (c) the costs, charges, and expenses incurred by the producer in respect of engineering, development work, artwork, design work, plans, or sketches undertaken in New Zealand that were supplied, directly or indirectly, by the buyer of the goods being valued for use in connection with the production and sale for export of those goods to the extent that such elements are charged to the producer of the goods, apportioned to the goods being valued as referred to in clause 8: 25 30
  - (d) the amount, determined in accordance with subclause (3), of profit and general expenses, considered together as a whole, generally reflected in sales for export to New Zealand of goods of the same class or kind as the goods being valued, made by the producers of the goods to buyers in New Zealand who are not related to the producers from whom they buy the goods at the time the goods are sold to them. 35
- (3) The amount of profit and general expenses referred to in subclause (2)(d) must be calculated on a percentage basis and determined on the basis of information— 40

- (a) prepared in a manner consistent with generally acceptable accounting principles of the country of production of the goods being valued; and
  - (b) supplied—
    - (i) by or on behalf of the producer of the goods being valued; or
    - (ii) where the information supplied by or on behalf of the producer of the goods being valued is not sufficient information, by an examination of sales for export to New Zealand of the narrowest group or range of goods of the same class or kind from which sufficient information can, in the opinion of the chief executive, be obtained. 5
- (4) In this clause, general expenses means the direct and indirect costs, charges, and expenses of producing and selling goods for export, other than the costs, charges, and expenses referred to in subclause (2)(a). 10

Method 6: residual basis of valuation

21 Residual basis of valuation

- (1) If the Customs value of imported goods cannot, in the opinion of the chief executive, be determined under Parts 1 to 5 of this schedule, it is to be determined, using information available in New Zealand, on the basis of a value derived from the methods of valuation set out in Parts 1 to 5 interpreted in a flexible manner and reasonably adjusted to the extent necessary to arrive at a Customs value of the goods. 20
- (2) However, the Customs value of imported goods may not be determined on the basis of— 25
  - (a) the selling price in New Zealand of goods produced in New Zealand; or
  - (b) a basis which provides for the acceptance of the higher of 2 alternative values; or
  - (c) the price of goods on the domestic market of the country of exportation; or 30
  - (d) the cost of production, other than computed values that have been determined for identical or similar goods in accordance with clause 20; or
  - (e) the price of goods for export to a country other than New Zealand, unless the goods were imported into New Zealand; or
  - (f) minimum customs values; or 35
  - (g) to avoid doubt, arbitrary or fictitious values.
