(Incorporated), and to discharge the trustees

Preamble

Whereas there was established in Dannevirke in 1917 from public subscriptions a trust known as the Dannevirke and District Soldiers' Institute the property whereof comprises the land described in the Schedule hereto together with the buildings thereon and the chattels therein contained, which trust was deemed to be a war fund within the meaning ascribed to that term by section 2 of the War Funds Act 1915:

And whereas the present trustees, and the Dannevirke and District Returned Services Association (Incorporated), and all persons concerned are agreed that the purposes for which the said trust was established have failed and that the terms of the said trust are incapable of being continued:

And whereas there is a provision in the original trust deed which states as follows, namely, "Should the Executive Committee of the Institute together with the trustees decide at any future time that the Institute is no longer required and that the same should be wound up then the trustees shall hold the said trust property and funds for such purpose institution or object of a public nature or interest as the trustees and the committee of the said Institute at a joint meeting shall determine":

And whereas the said Institute no longer exists as a body nor is there any survivor or successor of its Executive Committee:
And whereas the trustees and all persons concerned are agreed that the trust should be terminated and the real and personal property of the trust be vested absolutely and beneficially in the Dannevirke and District Returned Services Association (Incorporated):

And whereas the objects of this Act cannot be effected efficiently and economically otherwise than by legislation.

Notes*1 General

This is a reprint of the Dannevirke and District Soldiers' Institute Dissolution Act 1983. The reprint incorporates all the amendments to the Act as at 23 September 1983, as specified in the list of amendments at the end of these notes.

Relevant provisions of any amending enactments that contain transitional, savings, or application provisions that cannot be compiled in the reprint are also included, after the principal enactment, in chronological order. For more information, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/reprints/>.

2 Status of reprints

Under section 16D of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, reprints are presumed to correctly state, as at the date of the reprint, the law enacted by the principal enactment and by the amendments to that enactment. This presumption applies even though editorial changes authorised by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 have been made in the reprint.

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/editorial-conventions/> or Part 8 of the Tables of New Zealand Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 *Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
  - indentation
  - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)

- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)
- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
  - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
  - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
