The Parliament of New Zealand enacts as follows:

1 Title

- (1) This Act is the Private Investigators and Security Guards Amendment Act 2000.
- (2) In this Act, the Private Investigators and Security Guards Act 1974 is called “the principal Act”.

2 Commencement

This Act comes into force on the day after the date on which it receives the Royal assent.

3 Renewal of licence

Section 33 of the principal Act is amended by repealing subsections (7) and (8), and substituting the following subsections:

- “(7) The police may, before the expiry of 1 month after subsection (5) has been complied with, file with the Registrar a notice of objection to the application in the same way as if it were an application for a licence.
- “(8) Any person other than a member of the police may, before the expiry of 1 month after subsection (5) has been complied with, file with the Registrar a notice of objection to the application, on the same grounds and in the same way as if it were an application for a licence.”
