“(a) The attestation paper purporting to be signed by a person on his being attested as a rating, soldier, or airman in the Armed Forces of New Zealand or in any Commonwealth force, and the declaration purporting to be made by any person upon his re- 35 engagement in any of the Armed Forces of New Zealand or in any Commonwealth force, shall be evidence of that person having given the answers to questions that he is represented as having given in the paper or declaration.” 40

(2) Section 147 (2) (b) of the principal Act is hereby amended by inserting, after the words “the enlistment of a person”, the words “in any of the Armed Forces of New Zealand or”.

(3) Section 147 (2) of the principal Act is hereby further amended by repealing paragraphs (i) and (j), and substituting the following paragraphs:

5 “(i) Where the proceedings are proceedings against a serviceman on a charge of being a deserter or an absentee without leave, and the serviceman has surrendered himself into the custody of a provost officer or a person lawfully exercising authority under or on behalf of a provost officer, or of any 10 other officer of any New Zealand or allied force, a certificate purporting to have been signed by that provost officer, or person, or other officer, and stating the fact, date, and place of the surrender, shall be evidence of the matters so stated:

15 “(j) Where the proceedings are proceedings against a serviceman on a charge of being a deserter or an absentee without leave, and the serviceman has been arrested and taken into the custody of a provost
officer or a person lawfully exercising authority
under or on behalf of a provost officer, or of any 20 other officer of any New Zealand or allied force, a certificate purporting to have been signed by that provost officer, or person, or other officer, and stating the fact, date, and place of the arrest, shall be evidence of the matters so stated:”

(4) Section 147 (2) of the principal Act is hereby further amended by inserting, after paragraph (n), the following paragraph:

30 “(na) A certificate purporting to be signed by the commanding officer of any accused, or signed by any other officer authorised by that commanding officer to give the certificate, and stating the contents of any part of any Defence Manual shall, in the proceedings against the accused, be evidence of the 35 matters stated in the certificate:”

29. Substituted conviction or sentence deemed to be conviction or sentence of court-martial—The principal Act is hereby amended by repealing section 159, and substituting the following section:

40 “159. (1) If a reviewing authority substitutes a conviction or sentence for the conviction or sentence imposed by a court-martial, or if any such authority exercises the powers conferred by section 157 of this Act to remit or commute a punishment imposed by a sentence of a court-martial, the substituted conviction or sentence, or the sentence having effect after the exercise of those powers, as the case may be, shall, subject to the succeeding provisions of this section, be deemed for all purposes to be the conviction or sentence of the court.

“(2) Where—

“(a) A sentence imposed by a court-martial was directed to be cumulative on any earlier sentence; and

“(b) A reviewing authority substitutes any sentence for the sentence imposed by the court-martial or remits or commutes that sentence but does not direct the sentence to be cumulative on the earlier sentence referred to in paragraph (a) of this subsection,— the term of the substituted, remitted, or commuted sentence shall be deemed to have commenced or shall commence on the date when the sentence imposed by the court-martial would have commenced had that sentence not been directed to be cumulative on the earlier sentence.

15

“(3) Where—

“(a) A sentence imposed by a court-martial is directed to be cumulative on any earlier sentence; and

20

“(b) A reviewing authority substituting for that earlier sentence, a sentence other than one of a kind upon which the later sentence can be cumulative or remits or commutes the earlier sentence to such a sentence,— the later sentence shall commence when the earlier sentence commenced or would have commenced.”

30. Effect of appeal—(1) Section 152 (2) of the principal Act is hereby amended by inserting, before the words “As soon as practicable”, the words “Subject to section 165 of this Act,”.

30

(2) The principal Act is hereby further amended by repealing section 165, and substituting the following section:

“165. Where an application for leave to appeal against conviction by a court-martial has been lodged under section 7 of the Courts Martial Appeals Act 1953, a reviewing authority shall not commence or proceed with a review of the proceedings of that court-martial until—

35

“(a) The application to appeal is withdrawn or abandoned, in which case the reviewing authority shall consider the legality and propriety of the conviction and sentence (if any) of the court; or

40

“(b) The application to appeal is refused or the appeal is determined, in which case the reviewing authority shall consider the legality and propriety of the sentence (if any) of the court.”

45

31. Execution of sentences of death—Section 167 (1) (b) of the principal Act is hereby amended by omitting the word “of” where it thirdly occurs, and substituting the word “or”.

32. Commencement of sentences—Section 177 of the principal Act is hereby amended by adding the following subsection:

“(3) Where—

“(a) A sentence of imprisonment or detention is passed by a court-martial on the conviction of any person; and 10 “(b) That conviction is subsequently quashed and a new trial ordered; and “(c) Following the new trial the person is again convicted and sentenced to imprisonment or detention,— 15 the term of the new sentence shall be deemed to have commenced or shall commence on the date on which the term of the original sentence commenced or would have commenced; but the period commencing with the quashing of the conviction and ending with the imposition of the new sentence shall not count as part of the new sentence.”

20 33. Consecutive sentences—The principal Act is hereby amended by repealing section 178, and substituting the following section:

“178. (1) Where a person who is already serving a term of imprisonment, whether imposed under this Act or otherwise, 25 is sentenced to a further term of imprisonment by a court-martial under this Act, the court may order that the further term shall run from the expiration of the term already being served.

“(2) Where, in any case to which subsection (1) of this section 30 applies,—

“(a) The earlier sentence is quashed on review or appeal or is otherwise set aside; and

“(b) No other sentence of imprisonment is substituted for that earlier sentence,—

35 the sentence imposed by the court-martial shall be deemed to have commenced or shall commence on the date when the term of the earlier sentence commenced or would have commenced.

“(3) Where, in any case to which subsection (1) of this section 40 applies,—

“(a) The earlier sentence is quashed on review or appeal or is otherwise set aside; and

“(b) Another sentence of imprisonment is substituted for that earlier sentence,— the sentence imposed by the court-martial shall commence or shall be deemed to have commenced on the date on which the substituted sentence will expire or is deemed to have expired.

“(4) Where a person who is already serving a sentence of detention is sentenced to a further term of detention by a court-martial or an officer exercising summary powers, that court or officer may order that the further term shall run from the expiration of the sentence already being served. 5

“(5) Where, in any case to which subsection (4) of this section applies,— 10

“(a) The earlier sentence is quashed on review or appeal or is otherwise set aside; and

“(b) No other sentence of detention is substituted for that earlier sentence,— 15

the sentence imposed by the court-martial or the officer exercising summary powers shall be deemed to have commenced or shall commence on the date when the term of the earlier sentence commenced or would have commenced.

“(6) Where, in any case to which subsection (4) of this section applies,— 20

“(a) The earlier sentence is quashed on review or appeal or is otherwise set aside; and

“(b) Another sentence of detention is substituted for that earlier sentence,— 25

the sentence imposed by the court-martial or the officer exercising summary powers shall be deemed to have commenced or shall commence on the date on which the substituted sentence will expire or is deemed to have expired.”

34. Compensation to victims of offences occasioning physical harm—Section 186A of the principal Act (as inserted by section 2 (1) of the Armed Forces Discipline Amendment Act 1976) is hereby amended by inserting in subsection (1), and also in subsection (2), before the words “dealing summarily” in each case, the words “trying summarily or”. 30 35

New

34A. Heading to Part X of principal Act amended—Part X of the principal Act is hereby amended by omitting from the heading the word “insane”, and substituting the words “mentally disordered”. 40

35. Person found under disability—Section 188 (2) of the principal Act is hereby amended by inserting, after the words “is satisfied by medical evidence”, the words “that his mental condition is such”.

5 36. When plea of not guilty may be substituted for plea of guilty—Section 189 of the principal Act is hereby repealed.

37. New sections (relating to insanity and disability) substituted in principal Act—The principal Act is hereby amended by repealing sections 190 to 194, and substituting 10 the following sections:

“190. Finding of insanity—(1) If, on the trial by court-martial of any person charged with an offence, the accused person pleads insanity and the court finds him not guilty on account of his insanity, the court shall direct a finding to that 15 effect to be recorded.

“(2) If, on the trial by court-martial of any person charged with an offence, the accused person pleads insanity and the court finds him not guilty, the court shall be required to declare whether or not it has acquitted the accused person on account
20 of his insanity.

“(3) Nothing in this section shall limit or affect the power of a judge advocate to leave to a court-martial the question of whether an accused person was insane (within the meaning of section 23 of the Crimes Act 1961) notwithstanding that the 25 accused person has not pleaded insanity nor put the question of his sanity in issue, where it appears in evidence that he may have been insane at the time of the commission of the offence.”

“191. Order to be made if person under disability or insane—(1) Subject to subsections (2) and (4) of this section, if 30 any person tried by court-martial (whether in New Zealand or elsewhere)—

“(a) Is found to be under disability; or “(b) Is acquitted on account of his insanity,— the court shall make an order that he be detained in a 35 psychiatric hospital as a special patient.

“(2) In any case to which subsection (1) of this section applies, the court, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, and being satisfied, after hearing medical evidence, that it would be safe in the interests of the public to make an order
40 under this subsection, may, instead of making an order under subsection (1) of this section,—

- “(a) Make an order that the person be detained in a psychiatric hospital as a committed patient; or “(b) Make an order for his immediate release; or “(c) If the person is subject to a sentence of imprisonment or detention (whether imposed under this Act or otherwise) decide not to make an order under this section. 5

“(3) In the exercise of its powers under subsection (2) of this section, the court may take into account any undertaking given by or on behalf of the person that the person will undergo or continue to undergo a particular course of treatment. 10

“(4) Where a person is found to be under disability or is acquitted on account of his or her insanity, the court may, instead of exercising immediately any of its powers under subsections (1) and (2) of this section, adjourn and report the matter to the convening officer for the purpose of having enquiries made to determine the most suitable method of dealing with the case pursuant to this section. 15

“(5) Where, in respect of any person found to be under disability, the court makes an order under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of this section, or decides under paragraph (c) of that subsection not to make any order under this section, the proceedings against that person in the course of which the finding was made shall be stayed, and no further proceedings shall be taken against the person in respect of any offence charged in those proceedings. 20 25

“(6) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, where a person is found to be under disability, or is acquitted on account of his insanity, he shall be kept in strict custody in accordance with Defence Council Orders pending his removal to a psychiatric hospital. 30

“(7) A person found to be under disability shall be removed to a psychiatric hospital as soon as practicable after the finding has been approved by a reviewing authority under section 198 (4) (a) of this Act, or if he has been acquitted on account of his insanity, as soon as practicable after that acquittal. 35

“(8) If an order is made under subsection (1) of this section in respect of a person who is subject to a sentence of imprisonment or detention, whether imposed before or after the making of the order, the term of that sentence shall, except during any period while he is unlawfully at large, continue to run during the currency of the order and any period spent as a committed patient; and, on his discharge from the hospital in which he is detained pursuant to the order or as a committed patient, he may, unless the sentence has sooner expired, be 40 45 removed to and received in a penal institution, service prison, or detention quarter in New Zealand, as the case may require, to undergo the remainder of the sentence.

“192. Duration of order for detention as special patient
5 where defendant under disability—(1) In this section the expression ‘maximum period of detention as a special patient’, in relation to any accused person who has been found by a court-martial to be under disability means—

10 “(a) Seven years from the date of the making of the order pursuant to section 191 (1) of this Act, in a case where any offence charged was punishable by imprisonment for life; or 15 “(b) A period from the date of the making of the order pursuant to section 191 (1) of this Act equal to half the maximum term of imprisonment to which the accused person was liable on conviction of the offence charged or (if the defendant was charged with more than one offence) of the offence punishable by the longer or longest term of imprisonment, in any other case.

20 “(2) If an order is made by a court-martial pursuant to section 191 (1) of this Act in respect of an accused person who has been found to be under disability, the order shall, subject to sections 72 and 74 of the Mental Health Act 1969, continue 25 in force until—

“(a) He is brought before a court-martial pursuant to a direction given under this section; or “(b) A direction is given under this section that he shall thereafter be held as a committed patient.

30 “(3) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (1) of this section, where, in any case to which that subsection applies, every charge against the person concerned is withdrawn, the order made by the court under section 191 (1) (a) of this Act shall be deemed to be cancelled.

35 “(4) If at any time before the expiry of the maximum period of detention as a special patient a certificate is given by 2 medical practitioners, or by the superintendent of a psychiatric hospital, that the person is no longer under disability, the Attorney-General shall either direct that the person be placed 40 in service custody for trial by court-martial or direct that he shall thereafter be held as a committed patient.

“(5) If at any time before the expiry of the maximum period of detention as a special patient, the Minister of Health, acting with the concurrence of the Attorney-General, is satisfied, on 45 the recommendation of 2 medical practitioners, that it is no longer necessary for the person, though still under disability, to be subject to the order, the Minister may direct that the person shall thereafter be held as a committed patient.

“(6) If no direction is given under subsection (4) or subsection (5) of this section before the expiry of the maximum period of detention as a special patient, the following provisions shall apply on the expiry of that period: 5

“(a) If a certificate is given by 2 medical practitioners, or by the superintendent of a psychiatric hospital, that the person is no longer under disability, the Attorney-General shall either direct that the person be placed in service custody for trial by court-martial or direct that he shall thereafter be held as a committed patient; or 10

“(b) If no such certificate is given, the Attorney-General shall direct that the person shall thereafter be held as a committed patient. 15

“(7) On the giving under this section of any direction that the person shall be held as a committed patient, the proceedings in which the order for detention was made shall be stayed, and no further proceedings shall be taken against the person in respect of any offence charged in those proceedings. 20

“(8) The powers and duties conferred and imposed on the Attorney-General by any of the provisions of this section shall not be capable of being exercised or performed by the Solicitor-General. 25

“193. Duration of order for detention as special patient when person acquitted on account of his insanity—(1) If an order is made by a court-martial pursuant to section 191 (1) of this Act in respect of an accused person who has been acquitted on account of his insanity, the order shall continue in force until— 30

“(a) A direction is given under this section that that person shall thereafter be held as a committed patient; or 35

“(b) That person is discharged pursuant to a direction given under this section.

“(2) If at any time while the order continues in force the Minister of Health is satisfied, on the recommendation of 2 medical practitioners, that the person’s mental condition no longer requires, either in the person’s own interest or for the safety of the public, that he should be subject to the order, the Minister may direct that the person shall thereafter be held as a committed patient, or that the person be discharged by the superintendent of the hospital. 40 45

“194. Power of court-martial to commit to hospital on conviction—(1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, where a person is convicted by a court-martial (whether in New Zealand or elsewhere) of any offence against this Act, the court, 5 on being satisfied by the production of a certificate by a medical practitioner that the person is mentally disordered, and that his mental condition requires that he should be detained in a hospital either in his own interest or for the safety of the public, may, instead of passing sentence, make an order that the 10 person be detained in a psychiatric hospital as a committed patient.

“(2) No order shall be made under this section in respect of a person who is, at the time of the conviction, subject to a sentence of imprisonment or detention.

15 “(3) Every such person shall be kept in strict custody pending the review of his conviction, and, if the conviction and order are approved by the reviewing authority, the accused shall be removed to a psychiatric hospital as soon as practicable thereafter.”

20 38. Substitution of finding and quashing of sentence where accused was insane—Section 197 (2) of the principal Act is hereby amended by inserting, after the words “this Act”, the words “and section 9E of the Courts Martial Appeals Act 1953”.

25 39. Powers of reviewing authority where person under disability or insane, and promulgation of finding—(1) Section 198 (1) of the principal Act is hereby amended by inserting, after the words “under disability”, the words “or acquits a person on account of his insanity”.

30 “(2) Section 198 (4) of the principal Act is hereby amended by omitting the words “the finding” where they first occur, and substituting the words “a finding that a person is under disability”.

(3) Section 198 of the principal Act is hereby further amended 35 by inserting, after subsection (4), the following subsection:

“(4A) After considering the legality and propriety of an acquittal of a person on account of his insanity, together with the advice given under subsection (3) of this section, the reviewing authority may—

40 “(a) Direct that the finding of the court-martial shall stand:

“(b) Quash the finding, and, if the reviewing authority is satisfied that in the absence of such a finding the proper finding would have been that the person was guilty of an offence (whether that with which he was charged or any other offence of which he could have been convicted at the trial), the reviewing authority may substitute for the acquittal a conviction for the offence; and, in any such case, the reviewing authority shall have the same powers of sentencing or otherwise dealing with the person as the court-martial would have had if the substituted conviction had been recorded at the trial: 5

“(c) Quash the finding, and substitute an acquittal (otherwise than an acquittal on account of insanity): 10

“(d) Exercise any power, whether to direct a new trial or otherwise, that it could have exercised if the review were a review of a conviction.”

(4) Section 198 of the principal Act is hereby amended by adding the following subsection: 15

“(7) At any time after a court-martial has found any person to be under disability or has acquitted any person on account of his insanity, but before the expiration of 6 months from the date of promulgation of the decision of the reviewing authority which first examined the court’s record of proceedings, he may lodge with a reviewing authority in accordance with the rules of procedure a petition against the court’s finding; and the authority petitioned shall thereupon consider the petition and carry out a review in accordance with the powers conferred on reviewing authorities by Part VIII of this Act and by the rules of procedure.” 20 25

40. Repeal—Section 17 of the Armed Forces Discipline Amendment Act 1980 is hereby consequentially repealed.

PART II

30

AMENDMENTS TO COURTS MARTIAL APPEALS ACT 1953

41. Part to be read with Courts Martial Appeals Act 1953—This Part of this Act shall be read together with and deemed part of the Courts Martial Appeals Act 1953* (hereafter in this Part referred to as the principal Act). 35

*Reprinted 1974, Vol. 3, p. 2281
Amendment: 1980, No. 38

42. Term of sentence passed under sections 9, 9A, 9B, and 9C—Section 9D of the principal Act (as substituted by section 208 (1) of the Armed Forces Discipline Act 1971) is hereby amended by adding the following subsections:

5 “(3) Except in a case to which subsection (4) of this section applies, where the Court substitutes a sentence of imprisonment or of detention for the sentence of imprisonment or of detention passed by a court martial, the term of the substituted sentence shall be deemed to have commenced or shall 10 commence on the date when the term of the original sentence commenced or would have commenced.

“(4) Where—

15 “(a) A sentence of imprisonment or of detention passed by a court martial was directed to be cumulative on any earlier sentence; and

20 “(b) The Court substitutes a sentence of imprisonment or of detention for the sentence of imprisonment or of detention passed by the court martial, but does not direct the sentence to be cumulative on the earlier sentence referred to in paragraph (a) of this subsection,— the term of the substituted sentence shall be deemed to have commenced or shall commence on the date when the sentence passed by the court martial would have commenced had that 25 sentence not been directed to be cumulative on the earlier sentence.

“(5) Where—

30 “(a) A sentence of imprisonment or of detention passed by a court martial is directed to be cumulative on any earlier sentence of imprisonment or of detention; and

“(b) The Court substitutes a sentence other than one of imprisonment or of detention for that earlier sentence,— 35 the sentence passed by the court martial shall commence when the earlier sentence would have commenced.”

43. Appeal against finding of disability—The principal Act is hereby amended by inserting, after section 9E (as substituted by section 208 (1) of the Armed Forces Discipline Act 1971), 40 the following section:

“9EA. (1) A person who is found by a court martial to be under disability shall have the same right of appeal against the finding of the court martial as he would have if the finding were a conviction.

“(2) If, on any such appeal, the court is satisfied, on the evidence of 2 medical practitioners, that the appellant is mentally disordered, it shall, after giving the appellant and the respondent an opportunity to be heard and to call evidence on the matter, determine whether the appellant is under disability. 5 “(3) If the court determines that the appellant is under disability, it shall confirm the finding under appeal.

“(4) If the court determines that the appellant is not mentally disordered, or is mentally disordered but is not under disability, 10 it shall quash the finding under appeal, and, by order in writing addressed to the appropriate convening officer, shall direct him to convene a court-martial to try the charge on which the appellant was previously remanded for trial by court martial.”
