REPAYMENT OF THE PUBLIC DEBT BILL.

565.

COPY OF MEMORANDUM AS TO THE PUBLIC DEBT PREPARED BY THE TREASURY.

THE gross public debt at 31st March, 1924, amounted to  $\pounds 221,616,361$ , of which about  $\pounds 17,100,000$  was State Advances, and  $\pounds 5,700,000$  for electric power, State coal, Westport Harbour Board, Nauru and Ocean Islands, &c., which accounts have special sinking-fund provisions. In addition,  $\pounds 27,000,000$ of debt due to the British Government has been funded, leaving the net present debt affected by the Bill approximately  $\pounds 172,000,000$ .

The present provisions for reduction of the public debt are briefly as follows :---

- (1.) The Public Debt Extinction Act, 1910, whereby an amount is set aside annually to accumulate at compound interest, so that in seventy-five years the accumulated fund will equal the debt. For the purposes of that Act the debt does not include any debt in which provision is made for any other sinking fund.
- (2.) The War Loans Sinking Fund under the Finance Act, 1918 (No. 2), whereby a sinking fund of 1 per cent. of the outstanding war debt is paid annually out of the Consolidated Fund to the Public Trustee. If invested at 4½ per cent. this sinking fund should equal the amount of the war debt in about forty years.
- (3.) The Naval Defence Act, 1909, whereby a sinking fund of 4 per cent. on the total cost of the battleship "New Zealand" (£1,795,166) was paid annually to the Public Trustee. In view of the funding operations with the Imperial Government no further amounts are payable to the Public Trustee.
- (4.) Other accounts (such as Štate Coal-mines, Westport Harbour Board, Electric Supply, and State Advances) have special sinking funds which are not affected by this Bill.

The funding operations concluded with the British Government dealt with £26,000,000 of the war debt; a portion of the amount borrowed under the Naval Defence Act, 1909, amounting to £960,000; and other advances amounting to £230,000. These sums are repayable by half-yearly instalments, and are therefore now separated from the New Zealand sinking funds, and will not be affected by the present Bill.

There are other sinking funds—e.g., local bodies' loans, and old war and Defence loans—which had accumulated with the Public Trustee up to 1910, when the Public Debt Extinction Act was passed. No further contributions to these sinking funds have been made, and the interest on them has since been paid to the Consolidated Fund by the Public Trustee.

The Bill proposes to substitute for the long-term sinking-fund system a method whereby the Dominion debt-reduction resources may be available to purchase and cancel Government securities as the market price is advantageous, or pay them off at maturity, and so ensure an actual reduction in the public debt annually. For this purpose there will be issued annually out of the Consolidated Fund a sum equal to  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. of the debt affected by this Bill (at present shown as £172,000,000 above). To this will be added a sum equal to interest at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum on the debt paid off under this scheme. By this means a portion of the savings in interest on debt paid off will be applied to further repayments of debt, and the present debt will be liquidated in about sixty years, while all future loans will be liquidated within a similar period from the date of their inception.

A capital fund termed "The Public Debt Redemption Fund" will be created, consisting of (1) the present accumulation of sinking funds, amounting to about £10,560,000 (leaving aside the State Advances, Westport Harbour Board, and State coal-mines funds); (2) the amount advanced for discharged soldiers settlement, £13,500,000. The capital of this fund will be held intact. The earnings therefrom will be credited to the Consolidated Fund and applied towards meeting the annual charge against the Consolidated Fund created by this Bill.

The Bill provides for an annual reduction in the amount of the public debt, the amount of reduction increasing from year to year. There will be an annual saving to the Consolidated Fund on the amount of debt redeemed, consisting of that portion of the interest and sinking fund in excess of 4 per cent. which would have been payable had the loans not been redeemed under the provisions of the Bill.

The Treasury, Wellington, 13th August, 1924.
