Any constable may demand the name and address of any person found on any premises during the period during which they are required by the provisions of this Act to be closed, and, if he has reasonable grounds to suppose that the name or address given is false, may require evidence of the correctness of such name and address; and may, if such person fail upon such demand to give his name and address, or such evidence, apprehend him without warrant, and carry him as soon as practicable before a Justice of the Peace.

Any person required by a constable under this section to give his name and address who fails to give the same, or gives a false name or false address, or gives false evidence with respect to such name and address, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.
