EXPLANATORY NOTE

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

These regulations prescribe a form for applying for an independence allowance under the Accident Insurance Act 1998. The form is used, if the Accident Compensation Corporation so requires, by people who suffered a personal injury before 1 July 1999 but did not apply before that date for an independence allowance. Such people receive an independence allowance under Schedule 1, as modified by section 441 (3). As provided in section 441 (3) (a), they may not lodge a claim for an independence allowance under Schedule 1; they may, however, apply for the modified independence allowance using the form in these regulations.

The regulations come into force, contemporaneously with the Act, on 1 July 1999.
