EXPLANATORY NOTE

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

These regulations declare Lake Tutira to be a fisheries experimental water, and are made under section 91A of the Fisheries Act 1908 (as enacted by sections 4 and 5 of the Fisheries Amendment Act 1953), which provides that, on the application of the acclimatisation society concerned, a water may be set aside as a fisheries experimental water, and thereupon special conditions may apply, and that the close season may be dispensed with.

These regulations permit fishing in Lake Tutira during the winter season (1 May 1957 to 30 September 1957) pursuant to a special permit issued by the Secretary for Marine, or by the Hawke's Bay Acclimatisation Society acting on behalf of the Secretary, and then only upon the special conditions set out in the permit. Provision is made in the regulations for a winter season and for the issue of special winter season licences, and for special experimental conditions to extend over the following open season.

Issued under the authority of the Regulations Act 1936.

Date of notification in Gazette: 2 May 1957.

These regulations are administered in the Marine Department.
