EXPLANATORY NOTE

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

These regulations amend the Immigration Regulations 1999 by introducing a $100 fee for general skills category persons who, having been given residence approval in principle and offered an open work visa or permit, wish to finalise that approval in principle.

They also amend the wording in relation to fees for appeals to the Residence Appeal Authority to include appeals in relation to residence visas as well as residence permits, and to clarify that it is the residence category under which a residence application is declined that determines the relevant appeal fee.

Issued under the authority of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989.

Date of notification in Gazette: 14 October 1999.

These regulations are administered in the Department of Labour.
