EXPLANATORY NOTE

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

These regulations postpone the operation of the provisions of regulations 13 to 19 and 22 of the Shipping (Engagement of Seamen) Regulations 1975. These provisions, which were to have come into force on the 12th day of May 1975, set out procedures for the engagement of seamen and make it an offence for employers to engage seamen otherwise than in accordance with those procedures. The provisions will now come into force on a date to be appointed by the Governor-General by Order in Council.

In addition these regulations extend, until the date so appointed, the time within which certain categories of seamen may register in Register A. The closing date in the regulations as originally enacted was the 1st day of May 1975.
