PART III

REVIEW OF CHARGES

17. Interpretation—In this Part of these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires,—

“Charges” means charges made by surveyors for work as such:

“Client” includes any person who has paid charges on behalf of another person, or who admits or claims that he is or may be directly or contingently liable to a surveyor for payment of charges, or who is interested in the property out of which any charges are payable:

“Magistrate” means a Magistrate usually exercising jurisdiction in the Magistrate’s Court nearest to the place or to any one of the places where a surveyor carries on practice, and includes any Magistrate for the time being exercising jurisdiction in that Court in addition to or in substitution for a Magistrate usually exercising jurisdiction there:

“Surveyor” includes any firm or company practising as surveyors and the executors or administrators of a deceased surveyor and any person to whom has been assigned or in whom is vested the right to recover charges due to a surveyor.

18. Written account may be required—A client may at any time after the completion of survey work require the surveyor to deliver to him an account in writing of his charges.

19. Application for review—A client may at any time within 3 months after receiving an account in writing of any charges (whether or not payment thereof has been made) make application in writing to the Magistrate to review the charges, and shall in such application set out his full name, his calling or description, and his full postal address, and the full name and full postal address of the surveyor concerned and the total amount of the charges. Such application shall be accompanied by a fee of $5.

20. Time of hearing—On receipt of the application the Magistrate shall fix a time and place for review of the charges and shall cause notice in writing thereof to be given to the client and the surveyor. Such time shall be not less than 14 or more than 42 days after the receipt by the Magistrate of the application.

21. Further account may be required—The Magistrate may, on the application of the client made to him not later than 7 days before the date fixed for the hearing, order that a more complete or detailed account of the charges be delivered by the surveyor to the Magistrate and a copy thereof be delivered to the client, and the surveyor shall deliver such account accordingly not later than 3 days after the service upon him of such order.

22. Surveyor may issue new account—The surveyor may, not later than 7 days before the date fixed for hearing, substitute and deliver to the Magistrate and to the client for any account of charges theretofore delivered by him another account for the same or another total and containing such details as he may wish to insert therein.

23. Other parties to review—Not later than 7 days before the date fixed for hearing, the surveyor may, by notice in writing delivered to the Magistrate and to the client and to the other person concerned setting out the full name, calling or description, and full postal address of any other person who is or may be jointly or severally and directly or contingently liable to him for payment of his charges, require that such person be a party to the review and shall deliver to such person the like account of charges as is delivered to the client, and such person shall thereupon be deemed to be a client within the meaning of this Part of these regulations.

24. Representation at hearing—Any party may appear and be represented at the hearing by a barrister or solicitor.

25. Evidence—Upon reviewing the charges the Magistrate may receive evidence on oath or otherwise and may accept such evidence as he thinks fit, whether legally admissible or not.

26. Hearing may be adjourned—The Magistrate may adjourn the hearing from time to time and place to place as he thinks fit.

27. Decision of Magistrate—The Magistrate shall have regard to any rules regulating charges or prescribing scales of charges that may for the time being be in force under section 30 of the Act, and also to the terms of any express contract, oral or in writing, made between the surveyor and client, but shall not be bound by any contract which he considers unfair or unreasonable, and shall give such decision as he considers reasonable in the circumstances of the case. The Magistrate's decision shall be final.

28. Decision to be in writing—The decision of the Magistrate shall be given in writing, and the Magistrate shall cause copies thereof signed by him to be delivered to the client and the surveyor respectively.

29. Recovery of charges—When a review of charges has been made by a Magistrate, the surveyor shall not be entitled to recover against a client any sum for the work to which the charges relate otherwise than in accordance with the decision of the Magistrate.

30. Recovery of charges already paid—If, upon any review of charges that have been paid by the client, the amount which the Magistrate decides should reasonably have been charged is less or more than the amount paid, the difference shall be a debt due by the surveyor to the client or by the client to the surveyor, as the case may be.

31. Magistrate may enlarge time limits—The Magistrate may, if he thinks it just and reasonable to do so, enlarge any of the times prescribed by this Part of these regulations.

32. Delivery of documents—Any document to be delivered to a surveyor or client may be delivered by being sent by registered post addressed to the person in question at his full postal address set out in the proceedings (or any substituted postal address notified by him in writing to the Magistrate and to the other party or parties to the proceedings), and any document so sent shall be deemed to be delivered at the time when it would be delivered at the address stated therein in the ordinary course of registered post.
