(2) The insertion in the directory of any entry in addition to the free entry under regulation 24 of these regulations shall be deemed to be an additional service afforded on the date of publication of the first issue of the directory in which it appears, and, unless the telex service or datex service is sooner discontinued, continuing until the date of publication of the first issue in which it is practicable to comply with directions for countermanding it.

(3) An agent desiring the insertion of the name of the firm or firms he represents shall furnish satisfactory evidence that he is a bona fide agent of any such firm or firms.

26. Conditions of listings—An irregular combination or arrangement of the legal name of a corporation, partnership, or individual shall not be permitted as an extra entry nor shall any phraseology be allowed to designate the trade or business of the subscriber for the purpose of securing a position out of its regular order in the alphabetical list published in the directory if in the opinion of the Director-General any such irregular combination, arrangement, or phraseology is inimical to the interest of another subscriber, or in the case where an extra entry has already appeared, has in the opinion of the Director-General, become so inimical.

27. Free additional entry—Notwithstanding the provisions of these regulations with respect to the payment of a fee for the insertion of an additional or extended entry, the Director-General may approve the insertion of any additional entry, without charge, which in his opinion will assist the user of the directory to locate a subscriber's number.

28. Publication of list of subscribers—(1) Except with the authority of the Minister, no person shall publish any list of telex subscribers or datex subscribers with or without the appropriate telex or datex numbers or answer-back codes or both.

(2) Any person who commits a breach of this regulation shall be liable to a fine not exceeding $100.

29. In the event of any such interference by unauthorised persons, the subscriber concerned shall be liable to have his telex service or datex service discontinued without prejudice to any other liability that may be incurred.

(2) The Minister shall take all reasonable precautions to prevent damage or injury to subscribers or their premises from fire or other cause by reason of the installation of telex or datex apparatus but the Minister shall not be liable for any damage or injury that may arise from the failure of any such precautions.

Provided that no charge shall be made in respect of any part of the installation accidentally destroyed or damaged by fire, flood, earthquake, or other cause beyond the control of the subscriber.
