Engaging an investment adviser

An investment adviser must give you a written statement that contains information about the adviser and his or her ability to give advice. You are strongly encouraged to read that document and consider the information in it when deciding whether or not to engage an adviser.

Tell the adviser what the purpose of your investment is. This is important because different investments are suitable for different purposes, and carry different levels of risk.

The written statement should contain important information about the adviser, including—

- relevant experience and qualifications, and whether dispute resolution facilities are available to you; and
- what types of investments the adviser gives advice about; and
- whether the advice is limited to investments offered by 1 or more particular financial institutions; and
- information that may be relevant to the adviser's character, including certain criminal convictions, bankruptcy, any adverse findings by a court against the adviser in a professional capacity, and whether the adviser has been expelled from, or prohibited from joining, a professional body; and
- any relationships likely to give rise to a conflict of interest.

The adviser must also tell you about fees and remuneration before giving you advice about an investment. The information about fees and remuneration must include—

- the nature and level of the fees you will be charged for receiving the advice; and
- whether the adviser will or may receive a commission or other benefit from advising you.

An investment adviser commits an offence if he or she does not provide you with the information required.”

Statement of reasons

Note: The following statement of reasons should be read in conjunction with the statement(s) of reasons appended to the:

- Securities Act (Amendments to Exemption Notices Affecting Investment Adviser Information) Exemption Notice 2008 (SR 2008/60)

This notice comes into force on the day after the date of its notification in the Gazette and expires on 9 February 2010.

This notice applies to offers by Kawaroa Consultancy Limited of participatory securities in a scheme for ownership interests in real property in Goodna, South Brisbane.

The notice exempts those offers, subject to conditions, from the prospectus and investment statement requirements and various other requirements of the Securities Act 1978. These conditions include a requirement for investors to be supplied with a written statement containing the information specified in Schedule 1 and with a report by a registered valuer that contains the information specified in Schedule 2.

The Securities Commission considers that it is appropriate to grant the exemptions because—

- the detailed provisions of the Securities Act 1978 and the Securities Regulations 1983 and the disclosure required by them are not ideally suited to offers of real property or of interests in real property; and

- in relation to proportionate property ownership schemes for real estate in New Zealand, the Commission has granted a class notice, the Securities Act (Real Property Proportionate Ownership Schemes) Exemption Notice 2002; and
- these exemptions differ from the class notice in that the property will not be offered to the investors through a licensed real estate agent or a trustee company, and a separate certificate of title will only be issued to investors on request. The Commission considers that the appointment of a statutory supervisor for the scheme adds protection for investors to compensate for these differences; and
- the conditions of these exemptions require disclosure to be made to investors in the form of a modified investment statement and a valuer's report. This disclosure provides key information to potential investors including financial information about the scheme (if applicable), prospective financial information for the scheme, and the financial risks of entering into such a scheme. These exemptions allow tailored disclosure that provides better information for investors in a real estate scheme than is provided by the provisions of the Securities Regulations 1983; and
- these exemptions are consistent with the policy of the Commission in relation to proportionate property ownership schemes.

Note: The preceding statement of reasons should be read in conjunction with the statement(s) of reasons appended to the:

- Securities Act (Amendments to Exemption Notices Affecting Investment Adviser Information) Exemption Notice 2008 (SR 2008/60)

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/editorial-conventions/> or Part 8 of the Tables of New Zealand Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
 - indentation
 - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)

- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)
- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
 - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
 - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
