Amendment Bill

whole House*

Note: This Supplementary Order Paper shows amendments to the Bill that are being proposed by the Minister for the purposes of consideration in Committee of the whole House. This document does—

- NOT have official status in terms of unamended text
- NOT have the status of an as-reported version of the Bill.

Explanatory note

This Supplementary Order Paper makes a number of technical amendments to the Financial Markets (Derivatives Margin and Benchmarking) Reform Amendment Bill. These amendments are summarised below.

The commencement clause (clause 2) has been amended to provide for Part 1 to come into force on the day after Royal assent (instead of on a date appointed by Order in Council). Part 1 has the objective of ensuring that New Zealand financial market participants can continue to participate in international financial markets, particularly by using derivatives to hedge risks. The Part would enable compliance with foreign margin rules for over-the-counter derivatives.

Clause 2(3) currently provides for the rest of the Bill to come into force no later than 6 months after Royal assent. This has been extended to 12 months to allow more time to make regulations to support Part 2.

The current amendments to Schedule 7 of the Companies Act 1993 give priority to the claims of a qualifying derivative counterparty over preferential creditors where the collateral is accounts receivable or inventory (see clause 11). This applies where a liquidator is appointed. The amendments in this Supplementary Order Paper in Part 1 extend this change to apply in situations where a secured creditor—

- directly enforces against the collateral (see the amendments to the Property Law Act 2007 in new subpart 5); or
- appoints a receiver (see the amendments to the Receiverships Act 1993 in new subpart 6).

The amendments in this Supplementary Order Paper in Part 1 also make changes to provisions that apply where a statutory manager sells accounts receivable or inventory that is subject to a security interest (section 134 of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1989 and section 51 of the Corporations (Investigation and Management) Act 1989). The amendments ensure that a qualifying derivative counterparty is paid the proceeds of the sale in priority to other claims. This is consistent with the other provisions of the Bill that give a qualifying derivative security interest first ranking priority ahead of preferential creditors and other secured claims. See new clauses 5A and 14A.

Minor changes have been made to take into account the enactment of the Insolvency Practitioners Regulation (Amendments) Act 2019 (which also contains amendments to enactments that are amended by this Bill).

Section 18 of the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 (the FMC Act) sets out the definition of financial product for the purposes of Part 2 of the FMC Act (fair dealing). The amendments to Part 2 of the Bill add a security that is used to generate a financial benchmark to that definition. As a result, conduct in relation to a dealing with such a security will be subject to the provisions of Part 2 of the FMC Act. Consequential amendments are made to the Fair Trading Act 1986 as a result of this amendment.
