

years past. The settlement has been subdivided into four sections, each fronting on to a good formed and gravelled road, and each having a frontage to the Awamoko Creek. Each section is fenced. Water can be got by sinking on each section, and a reserve round two permanent springs has been made, so that the lessees of Sections 1A and 2A may easily secure a good domestic supply by means of pipes and wind-mills. Georgetown, at which there is a store, post-office, and telegraph-office, is about half a mile from the settlement. The nearest railway-station is Uxbridge (about a mile and a half), and there is a school and a creamery about the same distance away.
