TELEPHONE EXCHANGES.

5A. When a subscriber gives up an exchange telephone the Minister will not oa. when a subscriber gives up an exchange telephone the Minister will not recognize any right in the surrendering subscriber to say how it should be disposed of. Any attempt to traffic with a telephone by accepting a monetary offer for its transfer will, when discovered, have the effect of preventing the transfer. The surrendered telephone is immediately at the sole disposal of the Minister. This is not intended to interfere with the usual procedure by which a subscriber giving up a telephone may bespeak its transfer to a successor, subject to the requirements of the Department.
