

and every interstate vessel in the charge of a pilot, to apply to the harbourmaster for permission to berth such vessel at a leased or unleased wharf or to moor her in the stream.

The harbourmaster will issue the necessary authority, in the form of a berthing order, which will be taken to the pilot office at the navigation department, and will be evidence to the pilot that the vessel may be placed at the wharf or position in the stream indicated in the order. In the case of a vessel whose master has a pilotage exemption certificate, the owner or agent will be required to forward the berthing order to such master at the most convenient place, or otherwise communicate to him the authorized wharf or position at which to berth the vessel.

In the case of all vessels mooring in the stream, it will be necessary, whether the pilot is engaged or even if the ship is in charge of an exempt master, to obtain a berthing order before a position can be taken up; with this exception, that a vessel entering the port and having to anchor for medical inspection, or for orders, will not require an authorization from the harbourmaster for such temporary anchoring.

The change will more particularly affect those vessels which berth at wharves leased by the commissioners.
