33. The owner or occupier of every dwellinghouse shall provide the same with a privy.

34. Every person who shall construct a privy in connection with a building shall construct such privy at a distance of 10 ft. at least from any living-room or any room where food-stuff is intended to be stored.

35. It shall be an offence for any person who shall construct a privy in connection with a building to construct such privy within a distance of 40 ft. from any well, spring, or stream of water used or likely to be used by man for drinking or domestic purposes, or otherwise in such a position as to render any such water liable to pollution.

36. (1) Every privy shall in all respects be well and substantially erected. It shall be provided with a sufficient opening for ventilation as near the top as practicable, and communication directly with the external air. It shall be enclosed on all sides and be provided with a door.

(2) Every person who shall construct a pan privy in connection with a building shall construct such privy in such a manner and in such a position as to afford ready means of access to such privy for the purpose of cleaning such privy and of removing filth therefrom.

(3) The seat of a pan privy, the aperture in such seat, and the space beneath such seat shall be of such dimensions as to admit of a movable receptacle for nightsoil of a capacity of not less than 1 cubic foot being placed and fitted beneath such seat in such a manner and such a position as may effectually prevent the deposit upon the floor or sides of the space beneath such seat, or elsewhere than in such receptacle, of any filth which may from time to time fall or be cast through the aperture of such seat.

(4) The seat of such pan privy shall be so constructed that the whole of such seat or a sufficient part thereof may be readily moved or adjusted in such a manner as to afford adequate access to the space beneath such seat for the purpose of cleansing such space or removing therefrom or placing or fitting therein the appropriate receptacle.

(5) The receptacle in any pan privy shall be constructed of such material and in such a manner as to prevent any escape by leakage or otherwise of any part of the contents of such receptacle. The aperture of the seat shall be provided with a cover, which must be kept over the aperture when the seat is not in use.

37. The occupier of the premises on which any privy is situated shall keep such privy in a good state of repair and in a thoroughly clean and sanitary condition.

38. The owner or occupier of any premises in connection with which a privy has been erected shall use or cause to be used a sufficiently dry earth or sawdust or ashes so that the excrement shall be so covered that no nuisance shall arise therefrom.

Regulating Pan Privies.

39. Where a pan privy is used such privy shall be constructed and cleansed in the following manner:—

(a) Every person who shall construct a pan privy in connection with a building shall construct such privy in such a manner and in such a position as to afford ready means of access to such privy for the purpose of cleaning such privy and removing filth therefrom.

(b) The seat of a pan privy, the aperture in such seat, and space beneath such seat shall be of such dimensions as to admit of a movable receptacle for nightsoil of a capacity of not less than 1 cubic foot being placed and fitted beneath such seat in such a manner and in such a position as may effectually prevent the deposit upon the floor or sides of the place beneath such seat, or elsewhere than in such receptacle, of any filth which may from time to time fall or be passed through the aperture of such seat.

(c) The seat of such pan privy shall be so constructed that the whole of such seat or a sufficient part thereof may be readily removed or adjusted in such a manner as to afford adequate access to the space beneath such seat for the purpose of cleansing such space, or removing therefrom or placing or fitting therein the appropriate receptacle.

(d) The receptacle in any pan privy shall be constructed of such material and in such a manner as to prevent any escape by leakage or otherwise of any part of the contents of such receptacle. The aperture of the seat shall be provided with a cover which must be kept over the aperture when the seat is not in use.

40. The occupier of every house shall cause the pans of all pan privies used in connection with such house to be emptied and properly cleaned at least once in every week, and, in any case, so frequently as to prevent overflow.

41. It shall not be lawful for any person to bury nightsoil otherwise than in a pit or trench in such a manner and to such a depth as to provide that it shall have a covering of earth of at least 6 in. when the pit or trench is closed.

42. No nightsoil shall be buried within 50 ft. of any dwelling or within 60 ft. of any well. A pit may be used instead of a movable receptacle, provided such pit does not communicate directly with subsoil water. The aperture of the seat shall be provided with a cover, which must be kept over the aperture when the seat is not in use. The seat and walls surrounding the space below the seat shall be made flyproof. In no case shall the height of the excreta within the pit be allowed to rise within 6 in. of the surface of the ground.

Regulating Pit Privies.

43. On the authority of the Director of Maori Hygiene, or of a Medical Officer of Health, or of any Inspectors appointed by the Department of Health, a privy may be provided with a pit for the reception of faecal matter in place of a pan, but such pit shall not be so placed as to endanger the purity of any stream, spring, or well, and shall be at least 30 ft. from any dwelling or place in which food is stored.

44. The pit of every pit privy shall be covered by a seat so constructed as to prevent the access of flies to such pit, and for this purpose the aperture of the seat shall be provided with a cover which must be in place when the privy is not in use.

45. The pit of every pit privy shall be covered in with clean earth before the faecal matter therein rises to within 12 in. of the surface of the ground, and the privy shall be thereafter moved.

(g) INFECTIOUS DISEASES.

46. Where the Medical Officer of Health or the Director of Maori Hygiene notifies an infectious disease exists in a village or district, no hui, gathering, or tangi shall be held until such time as the village or district is declared clean of the disease.

Where an infectious disease has been notified in a village or district, the Committee shall render every possible assistance to Native-school teachers, Native nurses, Sanitary Inspectors, Medical Officers, or Health Officers, in the early tracing of cases of sickness in the village or district. house or camp owned or occupied by him shall be deemed guilty of an offence.

48. No person suffering or suspected to be suffering from an infectious disease shall travel or be removed to other dwelling-houses or camps already occupied, unless to a hospital, without the consent of a nurse, Sanitary Inspector, or Medical Officer.

50. 55. The Committee shall take steps to ensure that sufficient privy accommodation to the satisfaction of the Medical Officer of Health or Director of Maori Hygiene is provided separate for each sex, and that such privies are kept in a clean and sanitary condition.

56. The Committee shall take steps to prevent the fouling of water-supplies.

57. The Committee shall take steps to prevent any tangi, hui, or gathering being so unduly prolonged as to be a menace to public health.

59. Any person depositing excreta or urine within a Maori kainga at other than places appointed shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding 10s. for each offence.

60. The Committee may appoint a sanitary squad to carry out the provisions of this section. Where any expense is incurred it shall be a charge upon the funds of the tangi, hui, or gathering, or may be raised as a levy or contribution, as the Committee may deem fit.

61. Where there is no duly constituted Health Committee in a village where the tangi, hui, or gathering is held, the relatives of the deceased or the promoters of the tangi, hui, or gathering shall be held responsible for the carrying-out of the clauses of this section.

SUMMARY FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY, 1932.

General.—The weather of February was remarkable for the complete break in the drought which had prevailed in many districts during the preceding months. At the end of the first week, owing to a prolonged period of deficient rainfall, the situation was critical in parts of Hawke's Bay, Poverty Bay, and Canterbury, and only less serious in the Wairarapa, the Manawatu, and the Marlborough districts. But the Dominion once more showed the excellence and reliability of its climate when, during the following fortnight, two spells of heavy rain occurred. In the first the area principally affected was in the eastern portion of the North Island from Cook Strait to East Cape. Where there had been drought in that area it was fully relieved, the falls being particularly heavy from Hawke's Bay northwards. The second rainy spell was between the 17th and 22nd. On this occasion the whole country benefited, heavy falls being practically universal. The drought was now broken in Canterbury, Marlborough, and the Manawatu, and the whole aspect of the season was changed.

The rain was too late to save wheat crops, or even to fill out the grain. On the other hand, it did some damage to standing and stooked crops. Some turnip crops also had to be resown, and in places grass-seed which had germinated had already been killed by the drought. But abundance of winter feed is now assured, and there has been a vigorous growth of grass. Stock are in good condition, and milk yields have improved again.

Rainfall.—The amount of rain for the Dominion as a whole was very heavy, and must have approximated 50 per cent. above the average. In eastern districts between Oamaru and Timaru, from Wellington to East Cape, and about Auckland and the Coromandel Peninsula many stations recorded more than double the average for February, and some three or four times that amount. Nevertheless, parts of the Auckland Peninsula, most of Taranaki, and parts of Southland and of the interior of Otago had less than normal.

Temperatures.—In most places temperatures were below the normal for February, but in the interior the departures were seldom marked, and some inland parts of the North Island were warmer than usual.

Sunshine.—The amount of bright sunshine was much below average. Indeed, in many places, it was the cloudiest February on record.

Pressure Systems.—At the beginning of the month there was a continuance of the series of westerly depressions which had been passing rapidly across the Dominion. On the 7th, however, a tropical cyclone developed in the neighbourhood of Fiji. Moving southwards during the next few days, it became very deep and extensive. This storm controlled the weather in New Zealand until the 15th. Rain commenced on the 7th or 8th, and from then on until the end of the period most of the North Island, except Taranaki and western Wellington, received good rains, with many heavy falls. The heaviest were from Cook Strait to East Cape, and especially from Hawke's Bay northwards, the totals in the latter district being very heavy indeed. The 9th and 13th were the wettest days. A record flood occurred in the Poverty Bay flats on the 10th. During all this period south-easterly winds prevailed over the North Island, gales being reported at many stations. Towards the end the weather became cold.

The storm responsible for the abovementioned rains had moved away eastward by the 15th. The weather remained sultry and humid, and everything was favourable for renewed rains should a disturbance develop. For some days, however, pressure variations were slight and rain was rather sporadic in character, thunderstorms occurring in many districts. On the 19th a cyclone moved from near Lord Howe Island just past the northern extremity of New Zealand, and its centre was east of Russell on the morning of the 20th. Strong north-north-easterly winds were caused all over New Zealand, and especially along the east coast. During the night of the 19th there were very heavy rains in North Otago and South Canterbury, and record floods occurred between Hampden and Timaru. Extensive damage was done to roads, bridges, fences, &c. The rain continued on the 20th, practically the whole Dominion, except parts of Otago and Southland, recording heavy falls. The number of totals on the 20th which exceeded 2 inches, was remarkable. Many rivers were flooded in both Islands. The storm did not disappear from our weather charts until the 24th.

The month finished with another spell of westerly weather.
