

"(3) A general order given in favour of a corporate body may be exercised by an officer or servant of such body if authorized by the corporate body in that behalf under Regulation 32 or under this regulation in like manner as if the corporate body were a depositor.

"(4) A general order may at any time be revoked by the depositor by notice in writing under his hand, but such revocation shall not be effective until it is received by the Postmaster at the Post Office where the depositor's account is kept.

"(5) In the absence of effective written notice of revocation, the presentation of the depositor's book by the authorized agent may be accepted by the Postmaster-General as evidence of non-revocation of the general order.

"(6) This regulation shall not apply to accounts opened under Regulation 11 hereof."

11. The principal regulations are hereby amended by inserting following Regulation 40 thereof the following additional regulation:—

"40A. (1) On the death of any trustee, executor, or administrator who is entitled to a deposit made under Regulation 11 hereof, or on the addition or substitution of any other trustee, executor, or administrator, then on evidence of such death or on production of any vesting order, vesting declaration, or other instrument vesting the legal ownership of such deposit, and on such verification thereof or evidence of identity as the Postmaster-General may require, the names of the surviving, added, or substituted trustees, executors, or administrators shall be entered in the title of the account as being the persons entitled thereto.

"(2) Any new trustees, executors, or administrators shall before their names are so entered make the declaration required upon the making of a first deposit.

"(3) In any case provided for by this regulation the receipt of the persons named in the title of the account as altered in manner provided by this regulation (or the receipt of two or more of such persons as provided by Regulation 28A) shall be a good discharge to the Postmaster-General for any sums standing to the credit of the account."
